SC REFUSES TO GRANT BAIL IN GODHRA CASE

The Supreme Court on Monday dismissed the bail pleas of three convicts serving life term in the 2002 Godhra train burning case, which plunged Gujarat into communal riots, terming it a "very serious incident". "It was also a very serious incident. It is not a question of an isolated person being murdered," a bench headed by Chief Justice of India D Y Chandrachud observed, adding that specific roles have been attributed to these convicts.

49 DIE IN HIMACHAL AS RAIN WREAKS HAVOC

HIGHEST SINGLE-DAY LOSS OF LIVES IN STATE IN THIS MONSOON SEASON

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh

AT least 49 people were killed in Himachal Pradesh on Monday — 14 of them buried under rubble in two landslips, including one at a temple — as rains wreaked havoc, triggering landslides, washing away bridges and falttening houses. This is the state's highest single-day toll in the ongoing Southwest monsoon season.

About 15 more people are feared trapped under the debris of a Shiv temple at Summer Hill in Shimla. It was crowded with devotees offering prayers on an important day of the holy month of Sawan when the landslide occurred. In the second landslide, five bodies were pulled out of the rubble in Fagli area while 17 were rescued.

As many as 19 people died in Mandi district, 11 in Solan district, four in Hamirpur district and one in Sirmaur district. The UNESCO world heritage Shimla-Kalka railway bridge was badly damaged near Summer Hill in Shimla. A 50-metre stretch of its tracks was left hanging in the air as the soil underneath was washed away.

The overall toll of rain-related deaths since June 24 in the state reached 283. As many as 1,442 houses have been totally damaged and 8,160 of them partially damaged in 112 landslides and 58 flashfloods in Himachal Pradesh so far.

Chief Minister Sukhvinder Singh Sukhu said while about 1,200 roads were affected on Monday, half of them will be opened by the evening.

The weather office predicted extremely heavy rains in nine out of 12 districts of the state on Tuesday.

The Chandigarh-Manali national highway was closed due to flashfloods, which washed away a few vehicles. Also, alternative routes between Mandi and Kullu were blocked due to landslides. In Mandi district, seven members of a family, including a two-year-old, were killed in a landslide late on Sunday night in Seghli panchayat. Due to heavy rain for the past three days, several villages at Balh valley were flooded and a few houses badly damaged.

Besides, seven members of a family were killed in a cloudburst at Jadon village in Solan district on Sunday night, Deputy Commissioner of Solan Manmohan Sharma said. Two houses were washed away following the cloudburst.

The water level at Pong Dam reached 1,395.31 ft, crossing its maximum limit of 1,390 ft with inflow of inflow of 7.3 lakh cusecs. The level at the Bhakra Dam was at 1,675.71 ft as against its maximum of 1,680 ft.

Rescue work at a temple collapse site in Shimla; The collapsed Doon Defence Academy near Dehradun

12 more killed in Uttarakhand

NARENDRA SETHI @Dehradun

THE deluge in Uttarakhand continued on Monday, killing 12 more people since Sunday night. The state government suspended the Chardham Yatra for two days and restricted vehicular movement on the yatra route. Dramatic visuals of a four-storey, 40-room Doon Defence Academy collapsing in Kumalda area adjacent Maldevata in Dehradun on Monday brought the extent of the havoc to people's drawing rooms.

A resort near Mohan Chatti in Pauri Garhwal was buried under the debris of a landslide on Sunday night. A family from Haryana had checked into that resort. Rescue operations are on. The rains also affected the under-construction Rishikesh-Karnprayag rail project tunnel. As many as 114 engineers and labourers trapped in the tunnel were rescued safely by SDRF and Tehri police. The SDRF team covered a distance of about 9 km under extremely adverse conditions to reach the tunnel.

In Haridwar, the Ganga level crossed the danger mark of 294 m. It is now flowing at 294.95 m, which could impact rural areas, district disaster management officer Meera Rawat warned.

Self-regulation of TV channels not working: SC

SHRUTI KAKKAR @New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Monday pulled up the News Broadcasters and Digital Association (NBDA) for not taking steps to strengthen the self-regulatory framework of television channels. Taking the example of the ₹1 lakh fine imposed on TV channels that violate the NBDA guidelines, the court questioned its effectiveness given that the amount — fixed 15 years ago — is just a fraction of the channel's earnings.

Taking note of the NBDA's failure to revise the penalty, a bench of Chief Justice of India D Y Chandrachud and justices J B Pardiwala and Manoj Mishra said the fine should be commensurate with the profits earned by the channel from the programme that violated the norms.

The bench was hearing a petition by the NBDA against the Bombay High Court's adversary observations against it on self regulation of TV channels.

"You say TV channels practice self-restraint. I don't know how many in the court would agree with you," Chandrachud said. Referring to the sensational coverage of Bollywood actor Sushant Singh Rajput's death, the CJI said channels pre-empt criminal investigation.

Issuing notice to the Centre and others, the SC asked NBDA to consult former judges A K Sikri (current NBDA chairperson) and R V Raveendran (ex-NBDA head) to make suggestions to strengthen the self-regulatory framework.

TN moves SC for Cauvery water

SHRUTI KAKKAR @New Delhi

TAMIL Nadu has approached the Supreme Court seeking its direction to Karnataka to forthwith release 24,000 cusecs of Cauvery water from August 14 for irrigation.

In its plea, the TN government stated that on August 11, the Cauvery Water Management Authority (CWMA) reduced the quantum of water from 15,000 to 10,000 cusecs (0.864 tmcft per day), which was to be released by Karnataka for the next 15 days from KRS and Kabini reservoirs to be realised at Biligundlu. But even this has not been complied with by Karnataka.

"The actual flow recorded at Biligundlu on August 11, 12, 13 and 14 was 6,148, 4,852, 4,453 and about 4,000 cusecs, respectively," the plea stated.

Highlighting the efforts made by Tamil Nadu to get its share of water, the plea stated that Karnataka is duty bound to release water as per the orders of the top court.

"14.913 lakh acres (net area) are dependent on Mettur reservoir for irrigation, which in turn depends on the flows realised at Biligundlu, based on water released by Karnataka from KRS and Kabini reservoirs, which get a major portion of inflows during South-West Monsoon. During this monsoon, Kuruvai and Samba crops are grown in the Cauvery delta. Hence, the release of water from Mettur is crucial," the plea to the Supreme Court said.

Land dispute: Koppal woman gangraped, hubby thrashed

AMIT S UPADHYE @Koppal

IN a shocking incident reported from Koppal, a 46-year-old woman was allegedly gangraped and her husband beaten up by a group of men on July 25.

An FIR has been filed against 16 people. Of the accused, many are relatives of the woman. According to a complaint filed on August 8 by the victim's family members, the group attacked them when they were working in their field. The woman alleged that the accused undressed her and shot videos of the assault in broad daylight on her. They left her by the roadside half-naked and fled. The attack took place.

The woman and her family told mediapersons at Koppal on Monday that the police have not arrested any of the accused. "People of my village are shocked after the videos went viral. We will stage a protest against the delay in nabbing the accused, and appeal to the ministers to ensure justice to my family. How can we live in the village with such shame," the victim's husband said.

Meanwhile, officers investigating the case said the accused and the couple had a dispute over a piece of land. The accused had warned the couple not to cultivate the land. But the woman and her husband claim the land belongs to them. A police officer from Gangavati said the accused fled the village after the complaint was filed.

Left out, Kadugolla community still hopes for ST tag

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Bengaluru:

IF there is any community that's left by the wayside even after 76 years of Independence, it's the 'Kadugollas' -- traditionally the cattle rearing backward class. The literacy rate of 40 per cent for males and less than 10 per cent for females is a pointer to their exclusion from the country's development story.

The school dropout rate is more than 80 per cent, as they send their children to graze cattle. While 60 to 70 per cent live below the poverty line, 50-60 per cent don't have pucca houses, but still live in thatched huts in their hamlets.

The country can proudly claim that a tribal woman, Draupadi Murmu, is President, but the Kadugollas have had zero representation in Parliament since Independence. Which means that if Kadugollas had got the Scheduled Tribe (ST) tag which they deserved, according to many studies, they too would have claimed their share. "It is because of a lack of political identity that the community lagged behind in all terms, including getting the ST tag. There is no one to fight for them either in the assembly or Parliament," said former chairman of Karnataka Backward Classes Commission Dr C S Dwarakanath.

They continue to be 'backward', restricting themselves to their hamlets, where they practice traditional customs and beliefs. The recent death of a month-old baby's death at Mallenahalli hamlet, near Tumakuru, exposed the community's sad state of affairs. Keeping newborns and lactating mothers, and girls in their menstruation cycle in tents in the fields to fend for themselves, is a custom they believe in to keep their houses free of 'impurity', and that such a woman can inspire to face the wrath of their deities.

THE HATTI CONNECTION

They are found in 38 taluks of 11 districts, in 1,264 hamlets called 'hattis', cut away from villages as 'islands', with either minimum basic amenities or none. Their population is estimated to be about 5 to 6 lakh in Karnataka. In Andhra Pradesh, they are found only in Rayadurga, Kalyandurga and Madakasira taluks in about 245 hattis, with a population of 60,000-65,000.

The hamlets have not been declared revenue villages, following which basic amenities are elusive. There are no primary schools or health centres, and the women of the community bear the brunt of discrimination. They cultivate the habit of educating one of their male children, and sending the rest to graze cattle, said Gangadhar, a leader.

The Kadugollas have to fight among 95 other backward castes to join the mainstream, under Category I quota for education and employment, and among 196 castes for political reservation at local bodies. There were instances of children, especially girls, discontinuing and returning to their hattis, especially in backward classes hostels, remarked G K Naganna, another leader.

"An ethnographic study was conducted in 2011-2013. The state government submitted a report with due recommendations to the Centre in 2014, to classify Kadugolla into the list of STs in 2014. The issue is pending before the Central government," said scholar Dr B Chikkappaiah, who surveyed all the hamlets.

Similarly, ethnologists H V Nanjundayya and L Ananthakrisna Iyer who studied the Kadugollas, observed that 'KaduGollain' social customs are similar to those of Kadu kurubas (who have already been classified under Scheduled Tribes) in their book 'The Mysore Tribes and Castes' in 1930.

Another noted scholar, AAD Luiz, studied the Kadugollas and said the KaduGollas who have a culture and dialect of their own, deserve to be classified as scheduled tribes in his book 'The Tribes of Mysore' in 1963.

THE NATION STRIDES ON

Significant growth has taken place in our country since independence in information and communication. Citizens can visit any place of his choice in any corner of our country. This has helped provide true meaning to the concept of unity in diversity. Also, there has been a remarkable transformation after the passing of RTI Act. Transparency in public life and of transactions of public servants has enabled the citizens to hold public servants accountable. This has helped investigation agencies such as police and Lokayukta to unearth the truth and fix liability on the defaulters

Justice B S Patil, Karnataka Lokayukta

Freedom for me is a state of mind that has no fear to think, dream and innovate. It ignites a light in our eyes... India's freedom has achieved that. Freedom was a guiding hand that led me to think about new innovations. As a doctor, I got opportunities to learn and develop in a free country. It gave me the resources to build on tech advances in clinical research. Freedom makes us believe that we are not just a mere shadow of our past. Future of medicine is not simply an extension of our past. It is proof that something beautiful can be created from turmoil

— Dr Rohit Shetty, chairman, Narayana Netralaya

Since Independence, India has witnessed remarkable achievements across various sectors. Notable milestones include the transformative liberalisation of the 1990s, fostering economic growth and globalization. More recently, the surge in internet connectivity and digitalisation has revolutionized daily life. This advancement has become a game changer, greatly impacting work dynamics, interpersonal relationships and leisure activities. The nation's journey is akin to observing the growth of a cherished individual, with each passing year unveiling new glories

— Ramesh Aravind, actor

One of the most significant financial innovations in post-Independence India is the Unified Payment Interface, which has facilitated the transition of vendors into the digital realm. This shift has not only boosted our sales but also contributed to increased savings. Customers are less concerned as they can pay using their phones. When customers pay with cash, the money often gets spent. With UPI payments, the funds go straight into my savings account. For instance, if Rs 500 is deposited, I refrain from withdrawing it. This helps me save and provide a safety net during emergencies

— Noor Ahamad, vegetable vendor

In the aftermath of Independence, strides in IT and its widespread public integration have significantly impacted the nation's talent landscape. The ascent of tech hubs and the infusion of digital solutions have fuelled remarkable growth in India's IT sphere. This surging talent parallels India's pursuit of modernisation, civic participation and R&D. India's growth in the future of work has become integral to my strategic outlook, reflecting a nation that has harnessed technology and talent to redefine how businesses operate and flourish in an ever-evolving digital age. These advancements not only affirm India's global IT leadership but also reconfigure talent dynamics, cementing the nation as a fertile ground for skilled professionals worldwide

— Sunil C, CEO, TeamLease Digital

India has advanced economically, socially and technologically in many ways. But what strikes me the most is the expansion of schools, universities and colleges, which has allowed students to pursue diverse fields. With progress, there have been immense changes in the field of education. Economically, industrialization and technological advancements have created opportunities for youth. Socially, progress in education and initiatives for women's empowerment and LGBTQ+ rights contribute to inclusivity. Moreover, the emphasis on mental health awareness showcases a positive societal shift

— Privy D'souza, St Agnes College, Mangaluru

Much progress has been achieved in the agriculture sector along with many other fields since independence. Successive governments have launched various schemes like Kisan Credit Card, Fasal Bima Yojana, loan waiver, interest waiver, subsidy on purchase of seeds, fertilizers and agriculture equipment to promote agriculture activities. The government is also helping with subsidies and facilities for setting up solar panels for pump sets in fields and for domestic use. Farmers are becoming progressive because of the various assistance and scientific knowhow given by the Agriculture Research Centre.

— Sharanabasappa Patil, progressive farmer

We've seen Indian talent evolve over the years. The last 75 years of Indian independence has not just encouraged innovation, but has also made the nation shine across different industries globally. Another significant evolution was introduced by Indian entrepreneurs who believed in bringing education and technology together to disrupt traditional learning

'COME INTO MY HOME...' CAMPAIGN TO TAMP DOWN HATRED, BIAS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

ON the occasion of the 77th Independence Day, a national-level campaign, #MereGharAaKeToDekho (Visit My Home, Be My Guest) was launched on Monday by hundreds of secular groups and individuals to break socially constructed barriers. In Karnataka, the campaign was inspired by Kannada poet Kuvempu's poem 'Teredide Mane O Ba Athithi' meaning 'The doors of my home, my heart are open, dear friend...do come in, come bringing in a new light, new winds and new life..."

Anita Cheria, who along with others is leading the campaign in Karnataka, said, "The systemic segregation of communities in India has deepened to levels of distrust, hate and fear unimaginable. This degeneration is further aided by communal and divisive forces preaching hatred, polarization and violence, and is a threat to the plurality and diversity that is not only our shared history and memory, but the heart of our Constitution."

The campaign has been designed to counter the "othering" of people based on common biases, like class, caste, religion, sexual orientation, language, ethnicity, region and disability, she explained.

Under the campaign, people visit the home of someone from another 'community' or identity, spend a few hours and share a cup of water, tea or a meal. The organisers are spreading the campaign through word of mouth and social media.

The campaign will continue till January 30, 2024. The interactions include meetings between 50 migrant worker families and local workers, led by Munnade Social Organisation in Goraguntepalya and Kengeri, home meetings involving 100 families including transpeople, intercaste married couples, pourakarmikas in Anekal led by Gamana Mahila Samuha, visit to areas with mixed populations, workers and employer families at Badepalya, Bilekahalli, led by Stree Jagruti Domestic Workers' Union, students of St Joseph's College meeting five farmers in Doddaballapur and other interactions. "We accept requests and help them get connected," she said.

The organisers are hoping the idea will become a trend, both in Karnataka and beyond. "We believe it can go a long way in breaking existing socially constructed barriers. The effort is to spread the word of love and make this Independence Day more meaningful, by celebrating our diversity with a chance to foster mutual understanding and respect," Cheria said.

The campaign will include public events on festivals, commemorations and remembrances, like Gauri Lankesh, Dabholkar day, Savitri Bai Phule's birthday, Constitution Day, Gandhi Jayanti, harvest festivals etc.

PETER VIDAL

15TH August : The impact of fiery Sagittarius is everywhere, which could be good news for all Sagittarians - up to a point. If you live with one of these fabulous people, then get ready for changes. But you must also be prepared for them to start giving you orders! It's an old Sagittarian trick: do as I say, not do as I do!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Today's stars certainly pack a punch in a small way, and everything depends on what you say - and how you say it. All joint financial arrangements need to be treated with exceptional diplomacy, especially if you want to pick up the best bargains.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
You are not alone in experiencing powerful financial patterns, but your situation is much easier than some other people's. As far as you are concerned it is all just a matter of completing the job in hand - and of making the right decisions. Mind you, that's easier said than done!

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Allow other people more leeway and give them plenty of space to make their own choices. In point of fact, you may be obliged to come second-best, which could be useful because it will expose you to less risk. You may come first when the time is right, and after you have made the necessary preparations.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Astrologers say that you have an excellent memory, and now is your chance to prove it. Someone will make a mistake based on their misunderstanding of the past, and you should be on hand to correct all errors and offer your usual impeccable advice. Old friends provide the best support - as you probably know!

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
You must choose between facing up to an extremely awkward domestic or family situation and putting all such considerations behind you in the continuing quest for endless pleasure. There must be a middle way, but it may be another few months before you work out what it is.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
You can be remarkably secretive when the mood takes you. One thing other people must not know is what you are really doing! But neither should you let them become unduly suspicious. As usual, everything you achieve will be directed towards the common good.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
When other people misunderstand you, they normally do so in a big way. Right now, their mistake may be to imagine that you are much more confident socially than you really are. Disabuse them of this notion now, and admit to yourself that you really could do with some help!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
If you are going for any sort of professional advancement or promotion, success beyond your wildest dreams is within your grasp, but only if you're patient. You must prepare your ground with care and trust that, whatever the outcome, the future is on your side.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
There are people who have not been pulling their weight, and this is why you are now doing more than your fair share. It may be time to don your preacher's garb and offer such types fair advice on fulfilling their responsibilities. Don't be too pompous, though.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
A number of financial cycles are now reaching a turning point, so this will not be an easy time. My advice now is to cash in your winnings so far, and only gamble with funds that you can afford to lose. And don't gamble with someone's feelings either, or you'll risk a major regret.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Some people may be all smiles one minute, in floods of tears the next, behaviour which will probably extend over the whole of the next week. In some cases, there will be little you can do beyond offering gentle reassurance. Besides, it's good for people to get things off their chest.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Work is costing you more and more in terms of time and energy. This is as it should be, for the stars indicate that you may stretch yourself to the limit. The best support in this, as in all matters, comes from close friends. Spiritual feelings will be a valuable pointer to improvements in personal areas.

HC stays proceedings against Uppi

In my 30 years of public life, I have never insulted Dalits, says actor

Members of the Bangalore University Postgraduate and Research Scholars' Association protest against actor Upendra, for his controversial remark, in Bengaluru on Monday | EXPRESS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Monday stayed all further proceedings in the registration of the FIR against actor Upendra under the SC/ST (Prevention of Atrocities) Act by the CK Achukattu police in Bengaluru, for allegedly using a proverb.

Justice Hemant Chandangoudar passed the interim order after hearing the petition filed by BM Upendrakumar aka Upendra questioning the case registered by the police based on the complaint filed by the Assistant Director of the Social Welfare Department.

It was stated in the petition that Upendra has been talking to people through FB live about the ills that ail society and the transformation that is required in society to eradicate corruption, discrimination and other evils. On August 12, 2023, in his talk, he informed the people that, criticisms are part of life and used a proverb in Kannada 'Oorendre Holageri Iruthe'.

After his talk, certain people started commenting and criticising him for using the proverb. He deleted the episode and apologised to the people if he has inadvertently hurt anyone and made it clear that he has no intention of insulting any person or community.

The next day, Samatha Sainik Dal filed a complaint with the Assistant Director to take action against Upendra under the Act. The Assistant Director filed a complaint with the police alleging that the petitioner has insulted Dalits.

Upendra contended that the proverb he used had nothing to do with the insult to Dalits or any intention to insult people belonging to SC/ST. It is a proverb, which is generally used to state that criticism is bound to be generally there and one need not be unduly perturbed. There is a place called Holageri in Shivamogga district and there are many people with the surname Holageri, he stated.

He further stated that in his 30 years of public life, nowhere has he been accused of insulting Dalits. The complaint lodged against him is a motivated and malafide complaint calculated to garner undue publicity. Neither the complaint nor the FIR make out any offence having been committed by the petitioner under the Act, he pleaded.

BU students set fire to Upendra's effigy, demand his arrest

ENS @ Bengaluru

OVER a hundred students set fire to an effigy of Sandalwood actor Upendra in Bengaluru, following controversy over the derogatory remark he had made against Dalits during a Facebook Live event.

On Monday, around a hundred students from Bangalore University took part in assaulting and burning an effigy of the actor in protest, demanding action against him. "We demand that he is banned from the Sandalwood industry for at least five years and strict action be taken against him for hurting the sentiments of an entire community," said Lokesh Ram, president of the Bangalore University Postgraduate and Research Scholars' Association.

The actor and leader of the Uttama Prajakeeya Party has been mired in controversy following the Facebook Live event on Saturday, where he made a derogatory comment against people of the Holeya community. An FIR had been filed against the actor, which was stayed on Monday by the High Court.

However, the students continue to demand that the actor is removed from the industry and arrested for allegedly threatening secularism in the state. A six-foot-tall effigy of the actor was brought out at the university campus and students took turns beating it with slippers, before setting it ablaze.

"Justice should be given to the community, the home minister and Karnataka government must take action in this regard and ensure that he is arrested immediately," he said.

INJURED RECOVERING, SAYS BMCRI

Dr Ramesh Krishna, dean-director, Bengaluru Medical College and Research Institute, said, the injured victims are better and are on liquid diet, and are fitted out with nasal catheters. Operators have nasal catheters due to inflammation but there is no danger now," said Dr Krishna. To a question on shifting victims to private hospitals, he said, so far no such proposal has come.

Police issue notice to Prahalad, officer upset

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Halasuru Gate police, probing BBMP's Quality Control Cell laboratory fire case, have issued a notice to BBMP Engineer-in-Chief BS Prahalad.

Prahalad has been given the responsibility to probe the incident in which nine staffers suffered burns. Upset with the police move, Prahalad said it is only following the process, but the authorities should not have made it public, as it creates doubts in the minds of people.

A senior police official from Halasuru Gate said that since Prahalad is engineer-in-chief, the notice was sent to him. "We asked him about the quality assurance lab fire and how many staffers were affected, what kind of tests are conducted, safety measures being followed, the supervising officials during such tests, fire safety measures and other details. He has to appear before the inquiry officer and record his statements," he said.

Sources in BBMP said Prahalad is upset. "The probe process involves giving notices and asking Palike officials to appear before the investigating officers. Since the police had mentioned my name in the notice, they could have given it to me or my office. I would have replied, but making it public creates doubts in the public mind," said Prahalad, seeking a probe into leaking of the letter.

Meanwhile, Halasuru police will visit the spot to begin its study. Prahalad is appointed by BBMP to conduct an internal technical inquiry into the cause of the fire accident.

Prepare action plan to remove all illegal structures: HC to BBMP, state

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Monday said that all stakeholders, including BBMP and the state government, should join together and prepare a composite action plan to remove unauthorised constructions in the city.

"We are of the opinion that the issue in public interest litigation requires a holistic approach and unless all the stakeholders jointly come together and prepare the composite action plan, there will be no progress in the matter and then passing orders by this court and calling the reports from the authorities would be nothing but a paper formality," said a division bench of Chief Justice Prasanna B Varale and Justice MGS Kamal. The court has been monitoring illegal constructions since 2019 by registering a suo motu PIL.

'Constructions can't be suddenly stopped'

Going through the report submitted by the amicus curiae, the court said that the city is fast developing and constructions can't be suddenly stopped. Concentrated efforts have to be taken. "We hope and trust that the authorities -- state government and BBMP -- would show a positive approach to dealing with this issue. As various aspects referred already in the order passed in 2019, we call upon the BBMP and state government to file their responses with better particulars and a proper action plan with factual status," it said.

The court recorded the response submitted by the amicus curiae stating that the demolition notices were issued in good numbers but the actual demolition is minimal and the photographs submitted by the amicus curiae clearly indicated that the approach of the BBMP authorities is selective. The demolition process is initiated only against a handful who are not economically sound.

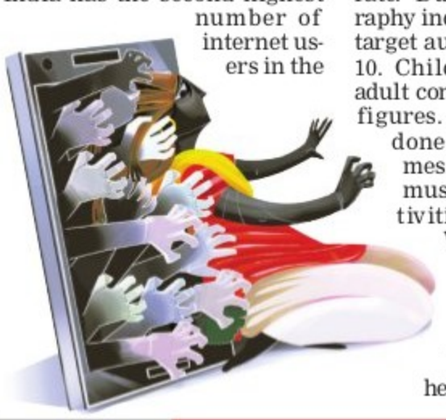
India at number two in internet usage, leads to more child abuse

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

PARENTS must not upload their child's pictures on social media, is the advice of Ashok Kumar, regional vice-president of International Justice Mission. He highlighted live streaming as well as other cybercrimes involving children, while giving the example of a 9-year-old resident of Bengaluru who was illegally uploading high-quality movies with a fake server, tracing the site location to Switzerland.

Online sexual exploitation of children has become a 'global emergency' that requires united efforts to tackle it. The number of cases has surged rapidly during and post the Covid-19 pandemic.

As per a global survey, 54 per cent of the young population reported having experienced online sexual harm before they were 18 years old. At present, India has the second highest number of internet users in the world, with more than 100 per cent urban penetration of the internet.



Online child abuse cases started being reported in India in 2008, but have increased by significant numbers since the Covid-19 pandemic. As per the survey, 83 per cent of kids aged 10 to 14 years use smartphones in India. Out of the total country's population, 90 per cent of the people own more than one internet connection.

Among such cases, extortion makes up the maximum number while other cases of live streaming and online grooming are increasing too. The victim's trust is gained until they reach a stage where they're threatened and abused sexually.

Speaking on online child sexual abuse cases, Ashok Kumar, regional vice-president of International Justice Mission, said cases of online abuse are being reported at an alarming rate. "During Covid-19, pornography industries reduced their target audience age from 18 to 10. Children are exposed to adult content through cartoon figures. Online grooming is done through games and messenger apps. Parents must be aware of the activities of their children. What they are consuming digitally, what they are doing, and who they are talking to must be known by parents," he said.

K'taka to consult legal experts on TN's SC move

Dy CM: Matter can be resolved through talks

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

DEPUTY Chief Minister DK Shivakumar on Monday said they will consult legal experts on Tamil Nadu approaching the Supreme Court seeking the release of Cauvery water from Karnataka. "We have to resolve it without getting into a confrontation as we are all like brothers," Shivakumar said, explaining that the state is committed to following the distress formula.

Shivakumar, also Minister for Major Irrigation, told reporters that he failed to understand why the neighbouring state moved the apex court. "There was no need for the Tamil Nadu government to approach the Supreme Court. We could have resolved it through talks," he said, adding that a decision needs to be taken keeping in mind the interest of farmers of both states.

He said the state government will release water only after ensuring that there is enough water for drinking purposes as well as to meet the requirements for standing crops. "Already, Mandya district-incharge Minister N Chaluvaraya Swamy has appealed to farmers not to go for additional crops. We will decide on the further course based on rain in the catchment areas and the availability of water in reservoirs in the Cauvery basin," Shivakumar said.

Bommai urges CM to put his foot down

Former Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Monday urged Chief Minister Siddaramaiah to take a firm stand on protecting the interests of farmers of Karnataka following Tamil Nadu approaching the Supreme Court seeking release of Cauvery water.

In a letter to the CM, the BJP leader said releasing Cauvery water will put farmers in Karnataka in distress. Tamil Nadu should have used 32 tmcft of water for the Kuruvai crop in one lakh acres, but this year, they have used 60.97 tmcft of water for the crop. But officials from Karnataka failed to protest against this in the Cauvery Water Management Authority meeting, the former CM said.

The water in the reservoirs in the state should be used for providing drinking water to Bengaluru and other places in the state and also to protect the interests of farmers, he said.

AFTER dedicating the thumping victory of Congress in the Assembly polls in the state to the efforts of party workers, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah exhorted them not to rest on their laurels, but to continue with the same spirit to bag 20 of the 28 Lok Sabha seats in Karnataka.

"Our workers should not relax as I have assured the high command that we will win at least 20 seats in the LS elections. I expect to win more seats," he said, addressing the general body meeting of the Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee here on Monday.

"I am speaking from experience. I say it without any exaggeration that BJP will lose in 2024. Prime Minister Narendra Modi neither attended the Parliament sessions properly nor paid any attention to the problems of people. He just does 'Mann Ki Baat' but there also there is no mention of people's problems."

The BJP lost in all constituencies where Modi held roadshows in the recent Assembly polls, while Congress won the constituencies where Rahul Gandhi's Bharat Jodo Yatra passed, he claimed.

He suggested that the workers make use of the five guarantees the government has been implementing, especially the 'Gruha Lakshmi' – one of the biggest programmes, and also create awareness among the masses.

He said JDS leader HD Kumaraswamy is like a BJP spokesperson and termed his claim of having a pen drive on corruption in the government false.

"BJP leaders are in panic that their true colours will be known once reports of probes on the scams under their government come out. Which is why they are making false allegations against the ruling party," he added.

"We got 42.8% of votes. The people of Karnataka have taken a very big step towards saving the country as they have rejected BJP's disastrous ideology and politics of underdevelopment, price rise, unemployment, mismanagement and dividing people on the basis of hatred," he stated.

Muniyappa suggests senior ministers pave the way for new faces

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

FOOD and Civil Supplies Minister KH Muniyappa's suggestion to senior ministers of the Siddaramaiah cabinet to give way to new faces after two-and-a-half years of their tenure has created a buzz in political circles.

"The party high command will take a decision on appointing the CM and Dy CM. It will be good if ministers, except for those who have entered the cabinet for the first time, pave the way for others and set an example. This will help others get an opportunity too," he said at the KPCC general body meeting on Monday. His statement received a good response from those attending the meeting who gave him a round of applause.

Muniyappa's statement is also being interpreted as a possible change in guard in the government after the first half of the Congress government.

Party sources said those who have been longing for the chief minister's post and their supporters are happy with Muniyappa's statement.

The minister also suggested that District Congress Committee presidents, who put in efforts to bring the party to power, should also be considered for nominations to boards and corporations.

Soon after the government was formed, DyCM and KPCC president D K Shivakumar had said that AICC president Mallikarjun Kharge and other leaders held a meeting with him and Chief Minister Siddaramaiah in New Delhi before appointing them. He indirectly referred to the high command brokering peace between them as both were in a fierce contest for the chief minister's post.

Rajeev Gowda is Dy Chairman of planning board

Bengaluru: Former member of the Rajya Sabha Prof Rajeev Gowda has been appointed the Deputy Chairman of the State Planning Board. A statement issued by the Chief Minister's Office on Monday night said Chief Minister Siddaramaiah issued orders appointing Gowda as the Deputy Chairman of the State Planning Board with the cabinet minister's rank. The CM is the Chairman of the board. The CM also appointed MLC Prakash Hukkeri as the Karnataka Representative-II in New Delhi with the cabinet minister's rank. Senior Congress leader and former minister TB Jayachandra, who missed out on cabinet berth, was earlier appointed as the state's special representative in New Delhi. ENS

CROPS FACING WATER SHORTAGE: TAMIL NADU

"ABOUT four million farmers and 10 million labourers depend on Mettur water for their livelihood. Agricultural operations in the Cauvery delta are suffering for want of adequate water. The crops are facing water shortage, which would affect agricultural production," the plea added.

Against this backdrop, Tamil Nadu sought implementation of the top court's February 16, 2018, ruling directing Karnataka to release Cauvery water at the designated point as per monthly schedule.

The TN government led by MK Stalin also appealed to the Supreme Court to direct Karnataka to ensure the stipulated release of water for September, make good the shortfall of 28.849 tmcft during the current irrigation year and also direct CWMA to ensure implementation of directions issued to Karnataka and give effect to the stipulated monthly releases during the remaining period of current water year.

Women-led SHGs open supermarket, to sell handmade products

Women and Child Development Minister Laxmi Hebbalkar looks at handmade products on display for sale at the supermarket in Udupi on Monday | EXPRESS

PRAKASH SAMAGA @Udupi

PEOPLE are busy nowadays and they cannot find time to search for various products essentially needed in households. However, if organic, homemade, top-quality products are available under one roof, it will attract many.

A women-led supermarket 'Sanjeevini' was inaugurated on the taluk panchayat premises in Udupi on Monday. Introduced under the National Rural Livelihood Mission (NRLM), this supermarket, spread across 500 sqft, will sell handmade bags, cane baskets, wall paintings, GI-tagged sarees, earthen pots, organic rice, soap, oil, homemade chocolates and many more products. Self-help group members are also engaged in producing candles, key chain, door mats, organic jaggery, phenyl, detergents, cow based byproducts, health drinks and other food items. One self-help group from Hebri will supply 'Hebri Honey' to the supermarket.

There are 7,623 self-help groups in the district with over 85,000 members making such products. Now, this supermarket will act as a platform to merchandise their products.

Self-help groups affiliated to gram panchayat-level federation (GPLF) in 155 gram panchayats utilised the community investment fund (CIF) of Rs 30 crore and started various business ventures.

The National Bank for Agriculture and Rural Development (Nabard) will assist in this initiative with Rs 15,000 (of this Rs 10,000 for rent) a month to Samruddhi self-help group which will run the supermarket.

After inaugurating the supermarket, Udupi district incharge Minister Laxmi Hebbalkar said she is impressed by the spirit of the women who will run the facility.

CONG GOVT MIRED IN CORRUPTION: BSY

Shivamogga: Stating that there is political instability in the state, former chief minister BS Yediyurappa said the Congress government is mired in corruption as is apparent from the complaint of bribery sent to the governor against Agricultural Minister N Cheluvaraya Swamy. He said corruption charges are being made continuously against ministers. ENS

CONG GOVT WILL FALL IN 6 MONTHS, SAYS YATNAL

Vijayapura: BJP MLA Basangouda Patil Yatnal on Monday attacked the state government, saying Karnataka's image has been marred by allegations of corruption since Congress came to power. "Contractors are committing suicide under the Congress regime due to rampant corruption," he said adding that the government will fall within the next six months. ENS

DKS to expose graft in BJP govt; Oppn plans stir

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE war of words between Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar and senior BJP leaders over corruption and delay in releasing contractors' dues continued on Monday. Shivakumar said he will soon expose corruption in the BJP government, while leaders from the Opposition party hit back, asking him to share the secret of his income.

Shivakumar said BJP leaders cannot intimidate him like they do others. "There are contractors who have done good work and there are some sharks, who are being supported by BJP. There are big MLA sharks too. In their constituencies, they have given works, but have tried to clear the bills without the works being carried out. Some of them have also got the payments released. I don't want to name any MLA now. We have the records," he said.

Money will be released for genuine contractors who have done the works, he said. "The BJP leaders have not been able to digest our schemes and the popularity of the government. They are frustrated and are making allegations," he said. He thanked the contractors who clarified that no one asked for any commission.

He said the Lokayukta had reported that a bill of Rs 117 crore was cleared without any work in one constituency during the BJP rule and the allegation of commission against him was made after the probe was ordered into the works.

Senior BJP leader and former DyCM R Ashoka alleged that Congress has turned Bengaluru and Karnataka into an ATM ahead of the Assembly elections in other states. "From day one, they have started corruption," he said, adding that the corrupt Congress government will not last long and people will teach it a lesson.

The BJP leaders said they will soon launch a statewide agitation against corruption in the state government.

Association says contractor apologised to Shivakumar

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) Contractor's Association on Monday said one of their members, who challenged Deputy Chief Minister and Bengaluru Development Minister DK Shivakumar to swear before God that he had not sought a commission from contractors, has apologised for his comments. Association president KT Manjunath said, "We have issued a clarification and our contractor Hemanth too has issued an apology. He made the statement as he was frustrated." A few days ago, Association members met Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot to complain about the delay in clearing their dues.

Manjunath said some middlemen had misled some people into making allegations that the Congress government is seeking a 10-15 per cent commission to clear the bills. "The association never alleged that a commission was being sought. Our only request is to clear bills worth over Rs 2,000 crore pending for the last 28 months," he added.

Manjunath said the formation of four separate committees headed by IAS officers to look into the works carried out in BBMP limits between 2019 to 2022 may further delay the bills.

"Zonal chief engineers have inquired into all the works carried out in BBMP limits earlier. The defective liability period is also over and now the Palike should clear the dues and also give the security deposit back," he stressed.

HDK attacks national parties for blame game

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

JDS senior leader HD Kumaraswamy on Monday attacked the two national parties for indulging in mudslinging instead of focusing on development.

After returning from his one-week tour of Cambodia, the former CM said he visited the Southeast Asian country on the invitation of his friends there to learn how the country, which was in distress earlier, is making progress now. "I was told by a minister there that Cambodia's GDP is 7.7% and there are stringent laws related to utilisation of public funds. Sadly, we (India) don't have a scarcity of funds, but political parties are looting public money," he said.

Referring to the '50% commission' allegation levelled by Congress leader Priyanka Gandhi against the Madhya Pradesh BJP government, he said national parties are more interested in making allegations against each other than focusing on development of the country and solving the problems being faced by people.

He also attacked Agriculture Minister N Chaluvaraya Swamy for dragging his name into a case where officials of the agriculture department had purportedly written to the governor against the minister. "I have not spoken at all about the letter. But why is he (Chaluvaraya Swamy) dragging my name into it? It shows how much he fears me," Kumaraswamy said, questioning why the minister met the governor if the letter was fake.

He flayed Chaluvaraya Swamy for his statement that Kumaraswamy should continue staying in foreign countries. "Is he suggesting that it will be easy for them to loot if I am not here," he asked.

Mysuru-Bengaluru Highway cuts off younger generation from Shivapura Soudha

K SHIVA KUMAR @ Mysuru

WHILE many across the country are supporting the Har Ghar Tiranga campaign, Shivapura village in Maddur, known for hoisting the national flag for the first time in the region as part of the freedom struggle 85 years ago, is fast fading into history.

The Shivapura Soudha, one of the iconic buildings constructed to mark the Shivapura March, has seen a sharp decline in the number of visitors, thanks to the new Mysuru-Bengaluru Highway that bypasses the town. As there is no access from the main road, the younger generation is kept away from knowing about the importance of the freedom struggle of this region.

In the past, it was a convention for educational institutions going on tour of Mandya district to take their students to the Shivapura Soudha. The students were told about the importance of the iconic building and the village, which gained national attention 85 years ago by hosting a peaceful agitation to attain the goal of responsible government and hoisting the flag giving a call for freedom.

On April 9, 1938, the national flag was hoisted in the village, and the Mysuru police arrested the activists who did so, as hoisting the Tricolour was banned by the British administration. Congressmen later held a convention, chalking out various programmes. The then Agrarian Agitation came as an added advantage, uniting all to fight back against the British.

Thirumale Gowda from the village gave over 9 acres of land for the flag-hoisting ceremony. He also gave his residence to use as an office and his bungalow to accommodate a large number of people, especially women and children, who came from different parts of the state.

To commemorate Shivapura Satyagraha, the Shivapura Soudha was inaugurated in 1979, which is a landmark in the region. But no efforts have been made to make the Soudha more attractive and educational. SM Krishna, when he was chief minister between 1999 and 2004, had planned to set up an exclusive library, giving information on the freedom movement and the local contribution to it, but could not take it up. There has been a demand to set up the Shivapura Satyagraha Authority, but it has not materialised. Also, there are no funds for the upkeep of the Soudha and the musical fountain in front of it has not been repaired in years. Added to this, the new Bengaluru-Mysuru Highway has cut off access to the iconic structure.

Residents say the education department should make the visit to Shivapura by students mandatory and efforts should be made to screen documentaries and organise events during vacations to attract more people.

The glass on the door of AIMIM president Asaduddin Owaisi's Delhi residence was found broken, police said on Monday. An officer said that no stone or any such thing was found in the vicinity. Police are checking the area and an investigation is underway

NEET row: TN CM fumes at Guv, to skip I-Day reception

Stalin urges Prez to give assent to NEET Exemption Bill soon

T MURUGANANDHAM
@Chennai

Tamil Nadu Sports Minister Udhayanidhi Stalin visits a government hospital in Chennai, after the father of the 19-year-old boy who died by suicide allegedly after failing twice in NEET, also died by suicide on Monday | MONISH LINUS

AFTER back-to-back suicides by a NEET aspirant and his father in Chennai on Sunday, Tamil Nadu CM MK Stalin lambasted Governor RN Ravi for making pro-NEET statements a few days ago. Stalin also said he would boycott the At-Home Reception to be hosted by the Governor on Independence Day at the Raj Bhavan and shot off a letter to President Droupadi Murmu, asking her to give assent to the NEET Exemption Bill passed by the state Assembly immediately to avoid loss of lives in the state.

"The boycott is to condemn the Governor's remarks on the NEET Bill, delay in giving assent to the Bills enacted by the Assembly, and for creating confusion in the higher education department and universities," Stalin said.

Hinting at the 2014 Lok Sabha polls, the CM said, "When the political change we strive for happens in a few months, the NEET wall will collapse and those who said they would not give assent to the anti-NEET Bill will vanish."

A few hours after the CM's statement, a Raj Bhavan press release said the event has been postponed. "The I-Day reception has been postponed as the main lawns in Raj Bhavan are flooded due to incessant heavy rain in and around Guindy area," the Raj Bhavan said.

The CM, in his letter to the President, pointed out that the NEET Exemption Bill is the outcome of legislative consensus, stemming from the collective will of the people of Tamil Nadu. The state government has already offered the clarifications sought by the union ministries of home affairs, health, and Ayush with regard to the bill, the letter said.

'Immense anxiety'

"But our Bill has not been given assent till now and this has caused immense anxiety in the minds of students and parents. Because of the delay, there have been several sad incidents of students (or their parents) committing suicide. So far, 16 students had ended their lives due to NEET," the chief minister said.

Stalin said NEET could be cleared only by those who get coaching by paying lakhs of rupees to private coaching centres. "Those who cannot afford to pay huge sums are unable to clear the exam. Also, those who clear NEET with fewer marks can join medical colleges only by paying money. In a nutshell, it is clear that only the rich can have medical education (under NEET)."

The chief minister also explained that students from poor economic backgrounds are entering medical colleges only through the 7.5 per cent reservation offered for government school students.

"The governor either fails to understand this fact or refuses to understand. His remarks have raised suspicions as whether the governor is acting as a puppet in the hands of coaching centres," the chief minister said.

The CM also recalled how the father of a Salem student posed questions about NEET to the governor. "But the governor who couldn't answer him directly said he would not give his assent to the bill. This shows his ignorance since the bill is now before the President and he has no say on it anymore."

Chandrayaan: Just one move away from soft landing

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

CHANDRAYAAN 3 is only one manoeuvre away from initiating a soft landing on the Moon. The latest manoeuvre performed by ISRO has activated the orbit circularisation phase. The next operation is planned for August 16 at 8:30am.

India's ambitious space mission was launched on July 14 and over the month, the propulsion module has made several manoeuvres around the Earth and Moon's orbit.

ISRO posted on X, "Orbit circularisation phase commences. Precise maneuvers performed today have achieved a near-circular orbit of 150 km x 177 km. The next operation is planned for August 16, 2023, around 8:30 am." Monday's manoeuvres were performed between 11:30 pm and 12:30 am.

What's next?

The next steps are crucial for the mission and India's space future which involves the separation of the landing module – consisting of the lander and rover – from the propulsion module. This will pave the way for the lander to undergo a controlled deboost manoeuvre in which lander Vikram will separate from the rover and make a soft landing on the Moon's south polar region. The mission's objective is to demonstrate a safe and soft landing.

Another leopard spotted in Tirumala

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Tirupati

EVEN as the forest department captured a leopard at the 7th mile adjoining Alipiri-Tirumala trekking path on Monday, another leopard was sighted Monday morning near the 7th mile adjacent to the trekking path, sending devotees trekking Tirumala into panic mode. The leopard entered the forest, prompting TTD to bolster security.

Additional Principal Chief Conservator of Forests (PCCF) Shanti Priya Pandey said the camera traps recorded the movement of five leopards near Namalagavi and Lakshmi Narasimha Swamy temples at 7th mile of the trekking path. She said blood and hair samples of the leopard that was captured have been collected to be matched with the samples of the leopard that mauled a six-year-old girl.

HYDERABAD REALTY AGLOW, SPECULATION MAY BURST BUBBLE

The real estate market in Hyderabad is going through a golden period. From the state government to developers and companies, all are rushing to get their hands on land parcels to make money. The Hyderabad Metropolitan Development Authority (HMDA) has raised ₹7,000-odd crore through auctions in the last 10 days. It is going in for yet another auction to rake in at least ₹800 crore. There is a reason for HMDA, of course. It is in a hurry to pool resources for the cash-strapped state government.

In the auction in Mokila, the square yard cost touched ₹1.05 lakh when the upset price was ₹25,000. HMDA received ₹100 crore per acre in the auction at Kokapet. Who are the buyers? Mostly real estate companies. The fact that land values have skyrocketed in this manner is cited as a mark of development by the state government.

Even TDP chief N Chandrababu Naidu rued that if in the past one could buy 10 acres in Telangana by selling one acre in Andhra, the situation has now turned quite the opposite. Now, let us look at the number of registrations in Hyderabad. A total of 15,355 housing units were registered in the first six months, as opposed to 14,693 during the same period last year. Compare it to the unsold inventory, and we see that anywhere between 80,000 to one lakh units are unsold, even if assuming a good part of them is under construction. Hyderabad has become expensive in housing only after Mumbai, with the average cost of a square foot hovering around ₹10,000. Housing has become unaffordable for the middle class. If one were to analyse the registrations, a majority are in the ₹20–50 lakh bracket, which begs the question: who will purchase the costly units popping all around?

With inflation rising and construction materials also costing a lot, there is an element of speculation at play. The government, too, is encouraging the same. For instance, it scrapped GO 111, opening up lands in 84 villages for real estate. Banking heavily on real estate and jacking up the prices may eventually hurt the consumer. A case in point is China, where President Xi Jinping cautioned that "housing is for living, not for speculation." Hyderabad is riding a tiger. The government may seek to mobilise resources but should refrain from promoting speculation.

DRESS REHEARSAL DONE, TIME FOR REAL THING

The Indian men's hockey team is so far ahead of the other Asian teams that not winning the Asian Champions Trophy in Chennai on Saturday would have been considered a disaster. But being the favourite and winning the title are two different things, as shown several times. In fact, India nearly came unstuck when Malaysia was leading 3–1 with less than 30 minutes to go, and the hosts seemed to be struggling.

Crossing the line like the Indian side did—coming from behind to level before scoring the winner—revealed certain admirable qualities in the team—character, the personality to not give up and to fight till the end. All of this bodes well for the team at the Asian Games (they lost in the semifinal to Japan in the 2018 edition in Jakarta) where Malaysia and Japan will be the prime contenders to challenge India's supremacy. The hosts also must bear in mind that Japan held them to a draw in the league stage at Chennai.

While not winning gold at the Asian Games in Hangzhou won't have significant consequences—they will have another Olympic qualifier if they fail to win gold—it may involve a trip to Pakistan if they fail to cross the line in China. Also, occupying the top step at Hangzhou is essential because it spreads belief in the camp. Under a new regime—head coach, Craig Fulton, joined the side less than four months ago—the team has gone away from its DNA of counter-attacking hockey. These days, the onus is on a more patient build-up, carousel-passing and eliminating the chaos in favour of more control in their play. If they display these traits in a high-pressure environment, they may be capable of holding their own against other elite sides like Belgium (where Fulton earned his bread as part of the backroom staff) and Australia.

Seeking control and guarding against counter-attacks isn't bad because Team India, now World No 3, has come unstuck while defending transitions against the likes of Australia and Belgium and, most recently, against New Zealand in the World Cup earlier this year. Getting the team to play in a specific way is geared towards meeting future challenges. The first step is qualifying for the Olympics, which they will do as long as they win gold at the Asian Games.

QUICK TAKE

POLL POSITIONS

Rajasthan says no to holding student union elections this year. It follows CM Ashok Gehlot indicating his disinclination by pointing out the growing role of money power. The ban's not the answer, and undemocratic too. There're no accompanying guidelines checking money power misuse either. The issue's really political. Knowing it'll agitate the students, Gehlot wouldn't have backed the decision, but last year the student polls jolted Congress as the NSUI performed poorly. Holding students' elections this year so close to the Assembly polls, due this year-end, may have seemed impractical also because the BJP might derive political mileage out of the ABVP's campaign.

DEMOCRACY IN DANGER: TRUE OR FALSE

MAKARAND R PARANJAPE

RIGHT IN THE MIDDLE

SOURAV ROY

On India's 76th birth anniversary as an independent country, it would be apposite to weigh in on a topic that has been making the rounds for quite some time. Has India's democracy devolved or, as some would prefer to put it, degenerated into an "electoral autocracy"? Let us consider both positions on this issue.

First that of the government. Prime Minister Narendra Modi likes to project India not only as the largest democracy, which it obviously is, but also as the "mother of democracy". Last November, just before India assumed the presidency of G20, our education minister, Dharmendra Pradhan, launched a glossy coffee table book published by the Indian Council of Historical Research (ICHR), claiming that the "democratic ethos" was "ingrained in India since the dawn of civilisation". Pradhan underlined how Modi, in his address at the 76th United Nations General Assembly, had claimed: "India is not just the oldest democracy but also the mother of democracy." Of course, what exactly is meant by democracy was not clearly defined. We know that despite the consultative and participative autonomy at the level of India's so-called "village republics", the most prevalent form of government throughout our history, there has been some version or the other of monarchy. During Muslim rule, the power of the potentate was so unrestricted that it earned the sobriquet of "oriental despotism".

But, coming to present times, a chorus of voices, mostly in the West but also in India, has been drumming up the narrative of "democratic backsliding" in India under Modi's watch. Scores of articles condemning India have been published by top news and media outlets of the world, including "the usual suspects"—CNN, BBC, The New York Times, Washington Post, The Guardian and Financial Times—plus a host of more respectable journals such as Foreign Policy and the Journal of Democracy.

Furthermore, global platforms are abuzz with condemnatory judgments emanating from international oversight institutions. Freedom House, in its Democracy under Siege report (2021), downgraded India from "free" to "partly free". It also accused the Modi administration of carrying out concerted endeavours to muzzle voices of dissent in the corridors of media and academia. That same year, V-Dem gave India a negative rating in its Democracy Report 2021, branding the nation an "electoral autocracy". According to V-Dem, the Modi-led BJP regime has misused the provisions of sedition, defamation and counterterrorism as potent instruments to quell its critics and opponents. Skip a couple of years to 2023. V-Dem calls India "one of the worst autocratisers in the last 10 years", placing it in the bottom 40-50% on its Liberal Democracy Index at rank 97. We fare even more poorly at rank 108 on the Electoral Democracy Index, and stand at 123 on the Egalitarian Component Index.

Not far behind is the Economist Intelligence Unit, which considers itself a global arbiter on matters such as democratic robustness. India was demoted in their 2023 Democracy Index to 46th place. Is there any point mentioning that quite similarly, in the World Democracy Matrix 2020, very unlikely states such as Sierra Leone, Timor-Leste, Guyana, Malawi, Albania, Liberia, Kenya and Colombia rank higher than India, which was ranked as low as 85 of the 176 countries measured? India is not even a "Deficient Democracy", let alone a "Working Democracy", according to this index put out by the University of Würzburg , which labels the country as a "Hybrid Regime".

Suddenly the familiar refrain echoes across the world: "Democratic backsliding." A phrase that encapsulates the power these regulators wield over how we are perceived, with them alleging that the very fabric of India's democratic ethos is undergoing a gradual, inexorable unravelling. International agencies, exercising their metrics as analytical blades, slice through the lived experience of 1.4 billion Indians. In the global arena, India stands as both subject and spectacle, grappling with the apparently weighty implications of these downgrades as if these agencies are the ones determining the democratic destiny of this great nation. Ironically, the very States which ruled the world as brutal colonial powers are today the watchdogs of human rights and democracy.

A slew of influential US politicians, including senators and members of the US Congress, have also been trying to take India down based on its track record on democracy and minority rights. The most visible of these was former US president Barack Obama, whose remarks to CNN were so well-circulated—and countered by the BJP top brass—that they don't need repetition. So, what is the truth? Is democracy in danger in India under Narendra Modi? This question assumes added importance because we are facing a general election next year that will determine who forms our government at the Centre.

Before offering a counter, let us give the devil, or in the present instance, the choir of those largely Western or Indian anti-Modi and anti-BJP decriers of Indian democracy, their due. Yes, it is possible to argue that India's freedoms have diminished under the Modi-led BJP government—that there is greater intolerance of dissent, more concerted attempts to control if not muzzle the media, a deliberate marginalisation of Modi's critics and opponents, attempts to take over or control institutions, and targeted social media bashing or hounding of critics.

Furthermore, we have seen unprecedented centralisation of power and the promotion of the personality cult of Modi and the polarisation of the public sphere, where there is hardly any middle ground left for one to take issue-based or even independent positions. Forget about speaking truth to power; just speaking the truth as one sees it has become somewhat hazardous for all, be it an academic or public intellectual. Worst of all, Parliament itself has become dysfunctional, thus undermining the most important pillar of our democracy. Let us suppose, by way of our purvapaksha, that these allegations are true in some, whether small or large, measure.

In the second part, we will consider the uttarapaksha, or the response to these charges or allegations. To begin with, who would deny that Modi has done more for India's growth, prosperity, welfare and international standing than most of his predecessors? But is "electoral autocracy" the prerequisite for such progress?

THE PROBLEM OF ONE-PARTY DEMOCRACY, AND ITS SOLUTION

C P SURENDRAN

Poet, novelist, and screenplay writer. His latest novel is One Love and the Many Lives of Osip B

The no-confidence motion by the Opposition in Parliament on Manipur last week had just one intent: to haul Prime Minister Narendra Modi to the House so he could be held responsible for the painful situation in that state. The Opposition succeeded. But did it help them? Doubtful. The ruling party and its absolute leader showed how invulnerable they are in numbers and how solid Modi's position is in the BJP. No politician in recent Indian politics exults in power as much as the prime minister. Indira Gandhi comes close, but that was in another country; besides, she is dead.

Modi's contempt for Rahul Gandhi and the Opposition was never more in evidence. He cracked his jokes like a whip. Into the welts he opened, he rubbed the salt of his sarcasm. When the victims howled in pain, he bared a smile, like a knife unsheathed.

His speech was the last. Others from his party had already extolled his achievements during the previous nine consecutive years as prime minister. Then, in his way, he proceeded to evaluate himself and was found, unsurprisingly, not wanting.

His a priori position is that everything he does is for his country. Naturally, those who question do not have India's interests at heart. As a result, he is always right even before he begins to speak. Modi is India.

A few days ago, Parliament passed the Delhi Services Bill. The Bill takes substantial administrative powers from the elected government and hands it to the Lieutenant Governor, who answers to the home ministry. For all practical purposes, the spectacular AAP electoral victories right under the BJP's nose have become insubstantial overnight. And each time this sort of thing happens, the Opposition finds that its resistance defines its feebleness. The frustrations of the Opposition only serve to underline the new paradoxical paradigm: the one-party democracy.

A day after the no-confidence motion, the home minister, Amit Shah, introduced three bills to replace the existing ones: The Indian Penal Code, 1860, to be replaced by the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita Bill, 2023; the Criminal Procedure Code, 1898, to be replaced by the Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita Bill, 2023; and the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, to be replaced by the Bharatiya Sakshya Bill, 2023. Like the Delhi Services Bill, they will all eventually be passed.

The bills seek to remodel the judicial system from punishment to 'quicker justice', Shah said. Kapil Sibal, consistently rational in his approach, has already pointed out the problems regarding the new provisions, especially the one on sedition as draconian; for example, in the new provisions, the police could keep a suspect in custody—instead of 15 days as of now—for up to 90 days, thereby reducing the power of the courts; this will further help the BJP or those in power to break their opponents as the legal apparatus already works hand in glove with the political establishment.

> The way out of this power-monopolising nature of present Indian politics is not discussions and debates ... The Opposition does not have the numbers, no matter how valid their points are

For example, the proposed changes in the Indian Penal Code, with special reference to sedition (124A), shift the emphasis from the government to the country. But who represents India more than Modi? Indeed, who could? This identification is potent: when does a leader end and the country begin?

No sensible person would go against the reformist spirit of the bills. We all could do with a fairer and speedier justice system. True, too, is the urgency with which the Modi regime dismantles the old legacies of the British.

But beneath the patriotic politics and the reformist zeal is the overriding need to raise the cult of Modi as the architect of New India. We will see more of this on the 77th Independence Day. The PM will make his official address from the Red Fort. He would do it well. Modi is at his intimate personal best when he addresses a billion-strong crowd. The new bills are meant to be listed as achievements in the Independence Day speech. The hurry is not the bills, it is the Independence Day.

In his powerful reply to the no-confidence motion, Modi said the 2024 elections are a write-off for the Opposition. As for 2029, he wished them luck. India possibly faces the prospect of at least 25 years of Modi rule.

One must take a pause here. In the short term, the way out of this power-monopolising nature of present Indian politics is not discussions and debates, unfortunately. Not, in short, reason. The Opposition does not have the numbers, no matter how valid their points are. The way out is, I suggest, victimhood politics, the hysteria latent in victimhood whose one appeasement is victory, not explanation, not even concessions.

Rahul Gandhi appears too reasonable to play that role. Besides, his masculine gender puts him at a histrionic disadvantage. Mamata Banerjee is tailor-made for it. Settle on her as the PM candidate for the Opposition, and BJP is likely to scratch its head.

The Tamil Nadu chief minister, M K Stalin, is an exponent of victimhood and identity politics, although he could never be considered a PM candidate because of the language problems. Within hours of Shah introducing the bills, Stalin said that the Hindi (recent in origin compared to Tamil's more than 2000-year history) names of the bills themselves were a way to humiliate Dravidian culture. A whole cultural identity was being victimised, he said. We will hear more in this vein in the near future.

West Bengal and Tamil Nadu represent models of resistance for the Opposition. Unlike what reasonable politicians like Sibal or even Rahul Gandhi think, it is not on the substance that a one-party democracy can be sought to be fought. It would be on victimhood politics: language, culture, gender, and identity. The fight must move out of the portals of Parliament—from foregone conclusions in terms of numbers to the powerful hysteric politics of victimhood.

Independence Day

India has meandered through chaos and witnessed social and religious upheavals. As we celebrate Independence Day, it's essential to protect unity as it is precious and should not be frittered away due to communal divisions, casteism and gender insensitivity.

Caste woes

Ref: Caste sharks yet to be maimed, social justice remains an illusion (Aug 14). Anto T Joseph deserves rich plaudits for calling a spade a spade without mincing words. But stating the forward castes in TN are trying to reclaim hegemony is misplaced. In TN, most do not absorb the essence of social harmony advocated by Rajaji, Subramanya Bharathi, etc. Vote bank politics adds to the woes of the less privileged. But it is gratifying he wrote this piece with courage and conviction, voicing his concern for the voiceless millions.

Parliament decorum

Parliament has reached a groundbreaking low vis-à-vis the no-confidence motion. Instead of a productive debate on crucial policies or the Manipur issue, we got to see an amazing battle between the egos of our oh-so-mighty lawmakers, spiced with taunts. Happy Independence Day and long live democracy!

Although the intention to do away with the colonial names was indeed noble, the names could have been simpler and acceptable for the whole country. However, the bills do have several positives and are long overdue, for which the Centre must be congratulated.

This is with reference to the column When a Jujube girl learned an important lesson (Aug 14). The writer has made it clear that one's appearance and appeal alone won't do when it comes to being queen. Customs and manners do count. HAPPY INDEPENDENCE DAY

WHAT FREEDOM MEANS TO THEM

With India turning younger at 77 at the stroke of midnight, this newspaper brings in voices from across the nation

"The nations that in fettered darkness weep
Crave thee to lead them where great mornings break
— SAROJINI NAIDU

THESE lines aptly, and rightly, capture the spirit of India's Independence Day. On August 15, 1947, a new era marked the realisation of a long-cherished dream — freedom from colonial rule. Conceived in the hearts of countless fighters, poets, and visionaries, the idea, nurtured through centuries of struggle, culminated in a resounding triumph on this historic day.

The journey from subjugation to sovereignty was arduous. From technological prowess to space exploration to growing bottom lines and rising M&As, from becoming an economic powerhouse to a sporting giant and to a growing stature at the global stage, India has showcased its mettle through remarkable strides. The contemporary challenges on economic, social and geopolitical fronts, however, are testing the country's resilience in the New World Order.

Seventy-six years later, the day also reminds us to not only critically look within but also come up with honest answers — is patriotism a pretense for domination over sections of our society, does wealth seek to create islands of luxury within our country, and simply, do we have a fellow feeling?

As the tricolour soars high on the 77th Independence Day, it is a continuous journey towards realising the full potential of the world's largest democracy.

QUOTES

ARIF MOHAMMED KHAN
GOVERNOR OF KERALA

Freedom is a universal human right, like the air one breathes. But, more than mere enjoyment of rights or the fearless expression and exercise of choices, it implies the conscious, continuing performance of one's duties as a social being. Freedom and eternal vigilance are complementary, for it is our wakefulness that ensures the continuity and reinforcement of Freedom, which forms the core of our democratic life and principles.

GEETANJALI SHREE
AUTHOR

Freedom is walking happily in neighbourhoods, mine or anyone's, with dignity, self-assurance, in respect and without fear, head held high.

Freedom is to read, write, be read, and to speak, hear, be heard, with dignity, self-assurance, in respect and without fear, head held high.

Freedom for me is to be and live, let be and let live, with dignity, self-assurance, in respect and without fear, head held high.

MADHAVAN NAIR
FORMER ISRO CHAIRMAN

Freedom to acquire knowledge and to apply it for societal benefits without the constraints of the government or bureaucrats is the most cherished freedom to me. Freedom to live your lifestyle without harming others is precious. India provides a lot of opportunities for the youngsters. I was educated here and performed my duties without constraints is an invaluable expression of that freedom.

PANKAJ TRIPATHI
ACTOR

Freedom for me means not being controlled or limited by rules, or customs that others have formulated for us. What is important in a good society is self-determination and autonomy under our own authority and responsibility. There should be rules and regulations, but only those that we have formulated. In a free, independent society, in a democracy, there should always be space for agreements as well as disagreements.

ASHISHKUMAR CHAUHAN
NSE MD & CEO

On Independence Day, let us remember the sacrifice and contribution of our nation's freedom fighters who envisioned a sovereign and prosperous India. As one of the leading global economies, we stand on the cusp of transformation, growth and development, echoing the spirit of a resurgent India. We remain focused on being a catalyst for capital market formation and nation–building.

NIKHAT ZAREEN
BOXER

Independence Day is really important to me because it represents freedom and self-dependence. It's a time when I feel like I'm not held back by depending on others, both in my personal life and in society as a whole. This freedom gives me the power to chase my dreams with determination and overcome any obstacles in my way. Being independent means I can take care of myself emotionally, physically, and financially.

AZADI: HOPES & ASPIRATIONS OF THE COMMON MAN

VAIBHAVI BHAT, ATIKA ZAINAB
Students of Mount Carmel College

Freedom is the free expression of my thoughts and opinions. Freedom allows me to speak my mind on all issues, including the clothes I like or the ideals I believe in. As a student, freedom is to be able to have a discourse with my professor over contradictory opinions, says Vaibhavi Bhat from Mount Carmel College, Bengaluru. For Atika Zainab of the same college, freedom means being able to wear whatever I want, go wherever I like, love whoever I want, and think whatever I want to without any fear. Freedom also means equal distribution of wealth, not going to bed hungry, an absence of caste and class, and the absence of misogyny.

ITILATA BEHERA
Widow of Pulwama martyr Manoj Behera

Making a choice for oneself is basic, but it is a luxury for many women in the country. The significance of Independence will actually hold true when every woman gets freedom of speech, the right to make decisions and create opportunities for herself and her children. I strongly feel women will truly be independent when they can express themselves fully, study and work without having to wait for anyone's approval. For me, freedom is the opportunity to live with dignity and without fear. If we live our life with a sense of purpose, we are free in many ways. I'm happy I am able to do that for myself and my daughter despite the absence of my husband who was my biggest strength.

USHA B
Homemaker, Thiruvananathpuram

Independence Day, for this 55-year old homemaker, literally personifies freedom. Born a Hindu, Usha B got married to a Christian on an Independence day 37 years ago. For her, freedom means the ultimate right to live without fear as a woman, as a religious individual and as an ordinary homemaker toiling to run her family. Usha lives with her three children and grandchildren at Mukkampalamood on the outskirts of Thiruvananthapuram. "Can't we see the rising number of atrocities and crimes against women?" As a homemaker, freedom for her also stands for being able to lead a decently comfortable life and she knows the significance of religious freedom.

DR S GOPAUL
Ex-director of govt hospital, Egmore

Concern, commitment and care with compassion will make our nation greater, says Dr S Gopaul, retired former director of the Institute of Child Health and Government Hospital for Children, Egmore, a Chennai neighborhood. Born in pre-independent India in 1943, he feels proud and fortunate to see technological developments around him. I wish the services of neonatology (treatment and care of newborns) percolate into remote rural communities on par with urban areas. His Independence Day message: "Doing one's duty with devotion." He helped set up a raw human breast milk bank and brought down the mortality rate of the neonates.

DEVLAL
Construction worker, Hyderabad

His situation brought him to Hyderabad. Sanjay is a labourer from Jharkhand who works at a construction site in Hitech City. Surrounded by tall buildings, his idea of freedom is to be able to work from wherever he wants to. Devlal is from Madhya Pradesh and now lives with his family in Hafeezpet, a rapidly-growing residential area of Hyderabad. "On Independence Day, I spend time with my family," he says. "I get Rs 500 per day, I am happy," he says. Aasa and Rakhi, daily wagers from MP, have also come to Hyderabad for work. In Hafeezpet, they carry cement and sand on their heads. Do they feel free? Aasa says, "Of course. We work and earn; nobody controls us."

SHABBIR
Displaced by floods in Delhi

Shabbir, 56, is a farmer whose entire crop was damaged in this season's flood in Delhi. He has to look after his 7-member family. The family is currently living under a tent alongside the Yamuna bridge. "Our kids are hungry; we are being asked to pay the rent of this place," rues Shabbir. No relief has reached the family. "We don't have any food," says Pyarbanu, Shabbir's wife. The family's wait for any relief may get longer as revenue minister Atishi has only evaluated preparation for relief and rescue efforts. Over to Delhi's bureaucracy; and there is no knowing about what Shabbir can think about freedom. "No one is helping." That's an SOS from Shabbir's son Imran.

Freedom for a small MSME business means doing it without too many restrictions. Sales and profits are just by-products. Limitations not only come from the government but also from the availability of finance to meet expansion programmes. SMEs & MSMEs are the milch cows for the banks. It is true that most revenue (with high margins) come from big players, and therefore, banks offer better facilities to larger corporates at the cost of smaller businesses. That makes the growth path for small players difficult. So, while the government claims it is providing enough support to the MSME segment, most schemes meant for the sector remain eyewash.

IMA flays new guidelines asking docs to prescribe generic drugs to patients

ASHISH SRIVASTAVA @ New Delhi

THE Indian Medical Association (IMA) on Monday put out a strong statement against the latest guidelines issued by the National Medical Commission (NMC) which allegedly mandated the doctors to prescribe generic drugs to patients.

Responding to the medical commission's move which has courted controversy, the apex body of private medical practitioners has urged the Centre for an urgent intervention in the case stating that they should not be forced to do the work of chemists, and prescribe "poor quality drugs" to patients.

The IMA questioned the quality of the generic drugs which, according to the medical association, would be detrimental to public health. It also asked if doctors are not allowed to prescribe branded drugs, then why such drugs should be licensed at all, given that modern medicine drugs can be dispensed only on the prescription of doctors of this system.

"Less than 0.1 per cent of the drugs manufactured in India are tested for quality. The biggest impediment to generic drugs is the uncertainty about their quality. The quality control in the nation being very weak, there's practically no guarantee of the quality of drugs, and prescribing drugs without assured quality would be detrimental to patient health," the IMA stated.

This step should be deferred till the government can assure the quality of all the drugs released into the market. Patient care and safety are not negotiable, it added. The association said that if the government and the NMC want all the doctors to prescribe only generic drugs, they should simply order all pharma firms to manufacture drugs without brand names.

"This measure is just shifting the job. Doctors' primary concern, training, and responsibility is patients' health; it is the chemist/person sitting in a chemist shop, who is selling drugs...." IMA said.

NHAI plans to rope in NGOs to rev up highways

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

TO ensure survival of maximum saplings and greater citizen participation in plantation drives, the National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) has decided to include NGOs, social organisations and education institutions in plantation drives along the national highways.

"The popular notion is that NHAI is destroying the environment by cutting trees. In fact, however, the NHAI has successfully carried out translocation of 68,000 trees including 12,000 trees at under construction Dwarka expressway. In Aurangabad, NHAI managed to save 51 Banyan trees, each 50 to 100 years old.

"A significant number of seedlings do not survive, therefore saplings shall be planted to maximise outcome. Trees introduced during plantation drive are also being geo-tagged so that their growth can be monitored. It has also been resolved that plantation wouldn't be carried out through contractors. Ideally it should be done by those who are interested. So, the NHAI will engage NGOs, social groups and education institutions for the same. The authority will provide all possible resourses," said officials privy to the development.

PRESIDENT ADDRESS

President Droupadi Murmu on Monday urged the people to move forward with the spirit of brotherhood and stressed that their identity as "citizens of India" is above all other identities of caste, creed, language and region. In her address to the nation on the eve of 77th Independence Day, President Murmu hailed India's economic performance amid the global uncertainty, saying the country has been a "beacon of hope" for others and has converted challenges into opportunities. She said India has regained its rightful place on the world stage and enhanced its standing in the international order | PTI

SC refuses bail to 3 convicts in Godhra case

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Monday refused to grant bail to three life convicts in the Godhra train burning case that triggered communal riots across Gujarat in 2002.

Saukat Yusuf Ismail Mohan, Siddik Abdullah Badam Shaikh and Bilal Abdullah Ismail Badam Ghanchi are the three convicted in Godhra riots who moved the apex court.

Taking note of the specific roles assigned to them and calling the incident as "very serious" a bench of Chief Justice of India DY Chandrachud, justices JB Pardiwala and Manoj Mishra said that the same was not a case of an isolated person being murdered.

"The incident is a very serious incident and it is not a case of an isolated person being murdered," CJI Chandrachud said while constituting a bench to hear the criminal appeals against Gujarat HC's 2017 verdict of commuting the death sentence to the 11 convicts to a life term.

"I'll list the appeal before appropriate bench. This matter has to be heard Mr SG. We can't keep it pending indefinitely. I'll also have to select a bench," the the Chief Justice said.

Objecting the bail, solicitor general Tushar Mehta said the charges against them were not just of stone-pelting. "One accused was found guilty of being the main conspirator who also actively participated in the act of burning the bogie of the train," Mehta said.

Noting that the convicts remained in custody for 17 years, senior advocate Sanjay Hedge, appearing for the convicts, said the accusations against the two were just stone-pelting while one was accused of robbing ornaments of the passengers.

The Supreme Court on April 21 had granted bail to eight convicts who were sentenced to life imprisonment for their involvement in 2002 Godhra train carnage case in Gujarat.

A bench of Chief Justice DY Chandrachud and Justice PS Narasimha while granting them bail took into consideration the period of imprisonment undergone by them (17-18 years) and also the fact that there was no likelihood of their appeals being taken up for disposal at an early date. The bench however refused to grant bail to four convicts due to their alleged roles in the case. The bail was refused to four convicts pursuant to solicitor general Mehta's objection.

The incident had resulted in death of 59 people including women and children who were returning from Ayodhya died on February 27, 2002.

The mob had gathered just near the Godhra railway station bolted the compartment door from outside, pelted stones and set the coach on fire.

SPECIAL INVITE

Fifty nurses along with their family members from across the country have been invited as special guests to witness and participate in the Independence Day celebrations at the Red Fort on Tuesday.

Cong, Sena warn of MVA rift as Pawar meets Ajit 'secretly'

SUDHIR SURAYWANSHI @ Mumbai

THE differences between alliance partners of Maha Vikas Aghadi — the Sharad Pawar-led NCP, Uddhav-led Shiv Sena and the Congress – are public over frequent secret meetings between Sharad Pawar and his nephew Ajit Pawar.

Shiv Sena and Congress have alleged that such meetings between the Pawars are creating confusion among alliance partners.

Shiv Sena Rajya Sabha member Sanjay Raut said when Eknath Shinde broke away, they did not meet regularly nor did they enjoy a cup of tea with him. Raut took a strong stand against "traitors."

Raut said on the one hand, Sharad Pawar was trying to keep his relationship with the nephew, and on the other, he was adding to the confusion in the already tense political atmosphere. He said such a display of political behaviour by leaders likes Sharad Pawar can cause erosion in his credibility.

Raut said Maharashtra Congress chief Nana Patole had visited Matoshree, the private residence of Uddhav Thackeray, where the two sides discussed several political issues.

"The secret meetings involving the Pawars were one of the issues discussed at Matoshree. Patole remained at Matoshree for more than three hours. We hope there should be clarity among the alliance partners," said Raut.

Raut said Chief Minister Eknath Shinde is getting sick with such shenanigans and is frequently flying to his hometown Satara. Shinde's unease is also due to Union home minister Amit Shah's recent Pune visit.

"Shah met Shinde and conveyed to him that there would be a change of guard in Maharashtra," said Raut.

Sharad Pawar on Monday asked the media not to create confusion by asking the same questions over his meeting with Ajit Pawar.

No restrictions this I-Day in Kashmir

No security curbs, shutdown or communication blockade since outbreak of militancy

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

FOR the first time since the outbreak of militancy in 1989, the main Independence Day function in Srinagar this year is being held in a relaxed atmosphere without security restrictions, shutdown or communication blockade.

The administration has made it mandatory for government officials and employees to attend the I-Day functions, failing which they will face disciplinary action. The main I-Day function in J&K would be held at Bakshi Stadium in Srinagar. It is for the first time since abrogation of Article 370 that the I-Day function would be held at Bakshi Stadium.

No security restrictions

A three-tier security arrangement has been put in at Bakshi Stadium. The security personnel have sanitised the area and taken over Bakshi Stadium. The checkpoints and barricades have been set up at sensitive areas to monitor movement of people and vehicles.

For the first time since the outbreak of militancy in 1989, there would be no security restriction on the movement of people on I-Day. Divisional Commissioner, Kashmir, V K Bidhuri said there would be no security restrictions on August 15. He said there would also be no communication blockade on I-Day.

In the past, authorities used to impose curfew-like restrictions in parts of the Valley till passage of Independence Day functions. Besides, mobile and internet service used to be suspended till mid-noon as a security measure. There would be no shutdown as no strike has been called. The separatist Hurriyat Conference, which used to call shutdown on August 15 and January 26, has been weakened as most of its top leaders have been detained.

I-Day functions

The government has directed its officials and employees to attend the I-day functions. There are around 4.5 lakh government employees in Jammu and Kashmir. The employees have been warned that in case they remain absent on August 15, disciplinary action would be taken against them.

"No government employee shall avail leave on Independence Day 2023 except under exceptional circumstances. All employees would invariably participate in the Independence Day celebrations," an official document reads.

The authorities have also directed officials to post selfies with tricolor, soil and earthen lamps on their Display Pictures on the social media handles on the Independence Day.

In view of improvement in the situation, the government has opened participation of common people in the celebrations with no entry passes required for attending the main I-Day function. Large gatherings are expected on I-Day functions this year with participation of government employees and students.

Tiranga Rallies

The well-attended Tiranga rallies were taken out across Kashmir. Lt Governor Manoj Sinha led a Tiranga Rally from SKICC to the Botanical garden on the banks of Dal Lake in Srinagar on Sunday. Large number of people including government employees attended these Tiranga rallies and carried and waved tricolour.

Hizb militant's brother raises tricolor Rayees Ahmad, brother of an active Hizbul Mujahideen militant Javed Ahmad, raised the tricolor at his house in Sopore town.

Gehlot inaugurates Urban- Rural Olympics

Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot inaugurated the Rajiv Gandhi Rural and Urban Olympics in Rajasthan from the SMS Stadium in Jaipur last Saturday, one of the first events he attended after recovering from a leg injury. Interestingly, the opening match of Kabaddi was played between Ministers and MLAs. In this, the captain of one team was Sports Minister Ashok Chandna and the other captain was PWD Minister Mahesh Joshi. Earlier, while starting these Virtual Olympics in 11, 252 panchayats and 535 municipal bodies of the state, Gehlot said, "For the first time, we have organized urban and rural Olympics."

New project to house MLAs in Jaipur

In a special pre-election gift to all Rajasthan legislators, Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot inaugurated the luxurious 'MLA Housing Project' equipped with state-of-the-art facilities opposite the state Vidhan Sabha in Jaipur on Saturday. Instead of four different places in the city, the MLAs will now be housed in flats equipped with the most modern amenities in a multi-storey building in the heart of the Pink City. As per Rajasthan Housing Board Commissioner Pawan Arora, in this project, 160 flats with latest facilities spread over 3,200 square feet each will be provided for the MLAs.

Jodhpur activist gets 50 child marriages annulled

Kanchan, a victim of child marriage for the last 11 years, got real freedom last Friday when a Jodhpur family court annulled her marriage after Sarathi Trust took up her case. Kanchan of Jodhpur district was trapped in the shackles of child marriage 11 years ago at the age of seven. Her in-laws had put pressure on Kanchan to get a cow. Luckily, Kanchan's brother came to know about the child marriage eradication campaign run by Kriti Bharti, Managing Trustee of Sarathi Trust, Jodhpur. Karti's trust filed a case in Family Court No. 1 at Jodhpur seeking annulment of her child marriage. Now the court has annuled the child marriage in Kanchan's favor.

2 Manipur tribal areas to have chopper links

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Guwahati

WITH the violence virtually partitioning Manipur on ethnic lines, the Centre has granted permission for helicopter services from two tribal areas of the state under the existing 75% subsidy scheme.

The two routes being operationalised are Churachandpur (Manipur)-Aizawl (Mizoram) and Kangpokpi/Senapati (Manipur)-Dimapur (Nagaland).

"I am directed to refer to Govt of Manipur's letter...and to convey approval of the competent authority for the operationalization of two more additional routes viz (a) Churachandpur in Manipur with Aizawl, Mizoram and (b) Kangpokpi/Senapati in Manipur with Dimapur, Nagaland under the existing helicopter subsidy scheme," a letter written to Manipur Chief Secretary Vineet Joshi by the Ministry of Home Affairs read.

"Approval is granted for additional flying hours to the State in case the existing ceiling limit of 750 flying hours per annum is exceeded due to the operation of two new routes," the letter further read.

UGC seeks report from JU as Mamata blames Left for ragging death

PRANAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

SPEAKING out for the first time on the issue of the death of a first-year student at Jadavpur University last week, West Bengal chief minister Mamata Banerjee on Monday held a section of students with an allegiance to the Left Front responsible for the incident. While addressing a rally, she labelled "only few students" are culprits who were responsible for the death of Swapnodeep Kundu.

"Swapnodeep was named after his parents' dream. His father never realised that his son would be murdered. All students are not bad but only a few Leftist students are culprit. They don't allow police to enter, don't allow CCTV," Mamata said while addressing a gathering in south Kolkata's Behala.

Shortly before Mamata's statement, the University Grants Commission (UGC) on Monday sought a report from the Jadavpur University authorities on its finding in the death of a first-year student alleged to be a victim of ragging by senior students of the institution.

The UGC's anti-ragging cell asked the university authorities to submit the report within August 21. Following receipt of the report, the UGC will dispatch a team of its anti-ragging cell to conduct on-the-ground inquiry, said a JU official.

The UGS, in its communication, has provided a format that the university must follow while submitting the report. According to the format, the institution must provide the information on its anti-ragging committee's inquiry and the conclusion it reached.

"The central government's statutory body, in its format, asked the university authorities to mention the CCTVs installed on the campus covering the hostels for its students. It is a fact that there was no CCTVs where the incident took place. But in the UGC guideline, installation of CCTVs was clearly mentioned," said another JU official.

J'khand land scam: Soren skips ED notice

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

CHIEF Minister Hemant Soren on Monday skipped the summons issued by Enforcement Directorate (ED) for questioning in connection with land scam and has sought time for the same. Soren has cited his pre-occupation with the pre-Independence Day celebrations, series of review meetings next week and Dumri by-polls scheduled on September 5 as the reasons behind it.

A staff from the Chief Minister's Office reached ED office and handed over a sealed envelope to the ED officials. Enforcement Directorate sources informed that Soren has sought one week time for appearing in the ED office citing a number of reasons for his pre-occupation.

Notably, CM Hemant Soren was summoned be Enforcement Directorate for the second time for questioning, this time in land scam case and was asked to appear for questioning at its zonal office in Ranchi on August 14. Earlier, Soren was grilled by the Enforecemnet Directorate for about 10 hours on November 18, 2022, in illegal mining case.

Muivah claims Centre acknowledged Nagas' right to integration

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

INSURGENT group National Socialist Council of Nagalim (NSCN-IM) general secretary Thuingaleng Muivah has claimed the Centre "officially acknowledged" that the integration of all Naga areas is a right of the Nagas.

"On the issue of integration of all Naga areas, the Government of India has officially acknowledged that it is the legitimate right of the Nagas and therefore, it shall be finalised accordingly," Muivah, also the "Ato Kilonser" (prime minister) of NSCN-IM, said in his speech during the celebration of 77th "Naga Independence Day" at the outfit's council headquarters "Hebron" on Monday.

Besides in Nagaland, the Nagas have sizeable populations also in neighbouring Manipur, Assam, Arunachal Pradesh and Myanmar.

The demand of Naga national flag and Naga constitution are believed to be the hurdles in the solution to their political issue". Muivah said there was no ambiguity on the issue.

"The flag and constitution are naturally inseparable from the sovereignty of a people. It is universally an accepted truth that flag and constitution are constituent parts of sovereignty. There is no ambiguity about it. The Indian leaders understand it too. They must take the stand to speak the truth," the NSCN-IM leader said in his speech.

He said the Nagas are a sovereign people who have been living in their own land from time immemorial.

"They are not begging for a piece of land from others. They have every right to build their own nation-state," Muivah categorically stated, adding this should not be viewed as an aggression as the movement is all about defending the inherent sovereign right of the Nagas and their land.

Gujarat tribal land diverted for 'development'

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA
@ Ahmedabad

IN Gujarat, out of 1,82,869 tribal claims for land pattas/rights under the Forest Rights Act (FRA), 57,054 claims have been denied by various administrations.

In the forest areas on which tribal claimed their first right, a total of 16,070.58 hectares of land has been diverted to various development purposes under the Forest Conservation Act 1980.

Under Compensatory Afforestation, 10,832.3 hectares of land has been given for forest. That shows a decrease of 5,238.28 hectares in land utilized for forest in Gujarat.

On August 8, Congress MP Amee Yagnik raised a question in the Rajya Sabha about tribal claims for land pattas/rights under the Forest Rights Act (FRA). The government in its response said a total of 1,82,869 individual claims were received up to November 30, 2022 from the state, while 57,054 Individual claims were rejected up to that period.

State Congress spokesperson, Parthiv Raj Kathwadia accused the government of depriving 91,183 tribals in the state of forest land rights.

Kathwadia said that it would mean that 49.8% of tribals who applied for benefits under the Jungle Land Act were denied their right.

There are 34,129 applications awaiting clearance.

"The BJP makes huge announcements for tribals but when it comes to actually granting them their rights, the Bharatiya Janata Party government backs down," Kathvadia alleged.

Giving reasons for rejection, the government stated in the Rajya Sabha that "general reasons of rejections of claims as reported by the state governments include non-occupation of forest land prior to December 13, 2005, multiple claims and the lack of sufficient documentary evidence."

On August 7, 2023, Bharatiya Janata Party MP Varun Gandhi posed a series of questions in the Lok Sabha about the projects for which forest land was obtained from the Revenue and Forest Department under the Forest Conservation Act 1980. In response, the Minister of Environment, Forest, and Climate Change Department provided data for the entire country.

According to it, a total of 16,070.58 hectares of land have been diverted for various categories under Compensatory Afforestation (CA) in the last 15 years.

The government has stated that, in comparison to the amount of forest land used, 10,832.3 hectares of land have been given under Compensatory Afforestation from 2008 to 2022-23, indicating that the government has used 16,070.58 hectares of land in Gujarat under the Forest Conservation Act 1980 for various development works in the last 15 years.

Ayodhya rush: UP plans to convert heritage palaces, forts into star hotels

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

ANTICIPATING huge tourist inflows during the grand opening of Ram temple in Ayodhya, the Yogi government is contemplating converting ancient monuments, including nine palaces and forts, across the state into star hotels.

According to senior state government officials, the move will not only help restore the rich heritage of UP, but also give a boost to the tourism sector and generate new direct and indirect employment opportunities. Steps are being taken to restore heritage properties to their pristine glory through private sector investments, the officials said.

The UP government is establishing the state as a popular destination for heritage tourism on the global map. "The move will contribute to the economic transformation of rural tourism, culture, and local areas," said spokesperson of the government.

The prominent heritage properties to be converted into star hotels include the famous Chhattar Manzil, Kothi Gulistan-e-Iram, Kothi Darshan Vilas and Kothi Roshan in the state capital. Chunar Fort in Mirzapur, Barua Sagar Fort in Jhansi, Barsana Water Palace in Mathura, Shukla Talab in Kanpur and Tikait Rai Baradari in Bithoor are the other in the list.

The government has created three categories of the monuments to be restored under the plan with a proposed minimum investment amount of ₹180 crore. Leading groups of hospitality industry have expressed keen interest in investing in the sector. Prominent among those who have expressed interest include group of Leela Hotels, Neemrana Hotels, Indian Hotels Company (Taj Hotels), Mahindra Hotels and Resorts, Oberoi Hotels, The MRS Group and Resort, Lalit Hotels, Hyatt Regency, Sarovar Hotels and Resorts, Accor Group, THF Hotels, Langer Hotels, Royal Orchid Hotels, Ramada Hotel, Clark Hotels, and Bridgman Groups of Hotels.

According to Mukesh Meshram, Principal Secretary and Director General of UP Tourism, the selection of the successful bidder for the project will be based on the quality and cost-based selection method. The criteria and responsibilities for the conservation of heritage buildings have also been defined.

The investor would be expected to maintain layout of archaeological buildings as they were originally, refraining from making any changes in their original form. The buildings would be adapted in accordance with their mythological and historical significance while establishing informative signage by developers.

Investment of ₹180cr

The government has created three categories of the monuments to be restored under the plan with a proposed minimum investment amount of ₹180 crore. Leading groups of hospitality industry have expressed keen interest in investing in the sector

UKRAINIAN FORCES RETAKE LAND NEAR BAKHMUT: KYIV

Russian fighters pushed out of frontline areas after days of fighting

KYIV

THE Ukrainian military on Monday said it had pushed Russian forces out of pockets of territory along front lines in the east and south of the country, building on a gruelling counter-offensive launched two months ago.

The gains — announced by Ukraine's deputy defence minister — came as Russia claimed its forces had progressed in the eastern Kharkiv region, undermining Kyiv's highly anticipated campaign.

The Russian army said its its forces repelled six attacks and counter-attacks in Ukraine's north east, and attacked Ukrainian facilities used to produce drone boats in an overnight strike.

"The aim of the strike was achieved. All designated targets were hit," it said in a statement Monday.

Ukraine kicked off its counter-offensive against Russian forces in June after building up assault battalions and stockpiling Western-donated weapons. But Kyiv has acknowledged that movement against heavily fortified Russian positions has been slow and said it had gained only a clutch of land around the war-battered city of Bakhmut last week.

"In the Bakhmut sector, three square kilometres were liberated last week," Deputy Defence Minister Ganna Malyar told state television, adding that Ukrainian forces had clawed back 40 square kilometres there since June.

She explained that Ukrainian forces had been diverted from offensive operations around the town — captured by Russian forces in May — citing building Russian pressure in the Kharkiv region.

"It was important for the enemy to divert our forces in other directions, so we could not concentrate our forces for the offensive in the Bakhmut sector," Malyar said.

Kyiv has also been pressing against deeply entrenched Russian forces in the south of the country in two regions the Kremlin said it had annexed last year. Malyar said Kyiv's army had made gains in two villages on the southern front but also confirmed Ukrainian troops had conducted "certain tasks" on the left bank of the Dnipro river in the Kherson region. AFP

Anwar-ul-Haq Kakar takes charge as Pak's caretaker premier

ISLAMABAD

ANWAR-UL-HAQ Kakar, an ethnic Pushtun leader who is considered close to the powerful military, was on Monday sworn in as Pakistan's caretaker prime minister to head a neutral political set-up to run the country and conduct the next general elections.

President Arif Alvi administered the oath to 52-year-old Kakar at a simple ceremony held at the President House, attended by outgoing prime minister Shehbaz Sharif and several top leaders. He became the 8th interim prime minister of Pakistan.

Kakar, an ethnic Pushtun from the Balochistan province, was unanimously chosen as interim premier to oversee the elections as provided in the Constitution. He was serving as a senator but resigned from the post after his appointment as prime minister.

The acting premier, a first-time Senator, also resigned from the Balochistan Awami Party (BAP), a party set up in 2018 and deemed closer to the powerful establishment of the country.

After taking the oath, Kakar drove to the PM House, the palatial official residence of prime minister nestled in the foothills of the Margalla mountains, where he was introduced to the new staff.

The immediate task of Kakar is to form a cabinet to assist him run the country. According to insiders, Jalil Abbas Jilani, a former career diplomat, is expected to be appointed as foreign minister. He was also among the runners for the post of interim premier. Kakar now faces the daunting task of holding free and fair elections and keeping the fragile economy on an even keel. PTI

Nepal weighs hiking Everest climbing fee for foreigners

KATHMANDU

THE Nepal government on Monday said it is contemplating hiking the royalty fee to obtain permission to climb Mount Everest by $4,000 to $15,000, effective from 2025.

Presently, foreign climbers seeking to conquer the world's tallest mountain, standing at 8,848.86 metres, are required to pay a royalty fee of $11,000. Nepali climbers are subject to a fee of NRs 75,000.

''The Department of Tourism has proposed a new royalty fee of $15,000 per foreign national desirous to climb Mt Everest from 2025," department spokesperson Yuvaraj Khatiwada said. The new fee will be applicable once the proposal is endorsed by the Cabinet.

The current fee structure enables any foreign climber to ascend Mount Everest from the South Face upon a payment of $11,000.

The government is also introducing a new regulation mandating expedition agencies to retrieve deceased climbers' bodies from the mountain.

This measure addresses the growing concern of bodies being left on the mountain despite having insurance coverage. The high cost and complexity of arranging body retrieval from high altitudes have prompted this enforcement of an existing provision in mountaineering rules.

Tragic incidents on Everest have highlighted the importance of these measures. PTI

Niger junta vows to charge ousted president with high treason

NIAMEY: Niger's mutinous soldiers said they will prosecute deposed President Mohamed Bazoum for "high treason" and undermining state security, in an announcement hours after the junta said they were open to dialogue with West African nations to resolve the mounting regional crisis. If found guilty, Bazoum could face the death penalty, according to Niger's penal code. Spokesman Col Maj Amadou Abdramane said on state television Sunday night that the military regime had "gathered the necessary evidence to prosecute before competent national and international authorities the ousted president and his local and foreign accomplices for high treason and for undermining the security of Niger."

Hindu temple vandalised in Canada

TORONTO

A prominent temple in Canada's British Columbia province has been vandalised by two Khalistan supporters with "anti-Hindu and anti-India graffiti", the latest such incident targeting Hindu places of worship in the country. The incident took place in the early hours of Sunday at the Shri Lakshmi Narayan Mandir in Surrey.

According to the Facebook page of the temple, one male and one female jumped over the outside boundary and purposely pasted Khalistan referendum posters on the main entry gate and the entrance of the Surrey Mandir. "It was really very sad what happened inside the Temple on August 12, 2023, late at night at 12.29 a.m., when one male and one female person jumped over the outside boundary and purposely pasted #Khalistanreferendum Posters on the Main Entry Gate and Main Entrance of the Surrey Mandir," the post read.

India has previously condemned the attacks on Hindu temples by Khalistan supporters in Canada and sought action against the perpetrators.

This act was done to create an atmosphere of fear among Hindus, it said.

"These hate mongers and attention seekers have not even left the Hindu Temple and disgraced Shri Lakshmi Narayan Mandir, Surrey by putting these posters on the mandir's main door that too by trespassing the mandir's property," the website of the temple said. PTI

July retail inflation at 15-month high of 7.4%

Inflation number beats most estimates by 80-90 basis points, crosses central bank's upper tolerance level of 6%

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

SURGE in vegetable prices, led by tomato, pushed the retail inflation to a 15-month high of 7.44% in July, according to data released by the Ministry of Statistics and Programme Implementation (Mospi) on Monday.

The July inflation number beat most estimates by 80-90 basis points. With this, the retail inflation went past the RBI's upper tolerance level of 6% after four months. The jump in inflation was primarily caused by a substantial increase in vegetable prices, which saw a 38% month-on-month and 37% year-on-year increase.

The Consumer Food Price Index rose 6.7% month-on-month in July. Rise in prices was also seen in other food items such as cereals, pulses and milk. Inflation in most other categories barring food and beverages, and pan, tobacco and intoxicants, eased in July 2023 compared to June 2023.

Anticipating a significant inflation rise in July, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) adjusted its CPI inflation forecast for July-September by 100 basis points to 6.2%. Despite this adjustment, the Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) decided to keep the policy repo rate unchanged at 6.5% for the third consecutive meeting.

"CPI inflation soared to a much sharper-than-expected at 7.4% in July 2023 from 4.9% in June 2023, owing to vegetables, as well as some other food items like pulses, spices and cereals. excluding vegetables, the increase in CPI inflation print was relatively tolerable, to 5.4% in July 2023 from 5.2% in the previous month," Aditi Nayar, Chief Economist with ICRA Ltd, said. As per Gaura Sengupta, an economist at IDFC Bank, nearly 71% of food basket saw inflation higher than 6% in July as against 59% in June.

As per experts, current bout of inflation post Russia-Ukraine war has been characterised by higher rural inflation as against urban inflation, mainly in case of cereals and pulses. "This trend remains abated, which is negative from a rural economic health perspective. It is important to support rural economic activity and stimulate consumer demand in these parts of the country, as India emerges from Covid-19," said Debopam Chaudhary, chief economist, Piramal Enterprises.

July exports fall 16% to $32.3 bn

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

INDIA experienced a 16% decline in merchandise exports to $32.25 billion in July, reaching a nine-month low owing to weak demand from major trading partners like China, EU and the US, government data showed.

Merchandise imports in July also witnessed a 17% decline to $52.92 billion, compared to $63.77 billion in July 2022.

This decrease was primarily driven by a fall in imports of petroleum, coal, organic chemicals, silver, and other items. The decrease in inbound shipments of petroleum products can be attributed to falling prices.

The merchandise trade deficit in July expanded to $20.67 billion. In June, the trade deficit had narrowed to $20.13 billion, down from $22.1 billion in May. However, on a year-on-year basis, the trade deficit decreased by 18.7% compared to $25.43 billion a year-ago.

According to Commerce Secretary Sunil Barthwal, amid global slowdown when most countries are reporting negative import and export growth, India's fall in exports is not as high as it is elsewhere. He added that the drop in exports is largely due to a decline in outbound shipments of petroleum products in value terms, adding that, in volume terms there has been an increase.

As per a senior Commerce Ministry official, export of electronic goods recorded a surge by $2.46 billion. Smartphone exports grew 126% during April-July 2023 compared to the same period last year. He stated that the merchandise imports from China fell during the period and imports from Russia have almost doubled.

Barthwal expressed hope that the overall exports may grow 5-5.5% by the end of this year as against last year's $775 billion mark, with services exports likely to increase 7%.

According to Aditi Nayar, Chief Economist, Head of Research & Outreach, ICRA Ltd, steady non-oil exports remain a positive for the country even as lower oil exports dampened the overall shipments in July 2023 relative to the previous month. "Based on the available trends, we expect the current account deficit to widen to US$11-13 billion in Q1 FY2024 and further to US$15-17 billion in Q2 FY2024, with the monthly trade deficit likely to remain above the US$20 billion mark in the next couple of months," she said.

Shareholders to get 1 share of hotel biz for 10 ITC stocks

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

SHAREHOLDERS of ITC will get one share in the soon-to-be-listed hotel entity for every 10 shares they hold in the company, as per the approved demerger plan of the Kolkata-based conglomerate's hotel business by its board on Monday.

The hotel business, which competes with the likes of Taj, Leela and Oberoi hotels, will be listed as a separate entity in about 15 months. The demerger is subject to necessary approval from shareholders, creditors, stock exchanges, SEBI, NCLT, and other regulatory authorities, as required.

There will be no change in the shareholding pattern of ITC. Post the implementation of the demerger scheme, the shareholders of ITC will directly hold about 60% of the resulting company, proportionate to their shareholding in ITC; the balance stake of about 40% in the resulting company will be held by ITC. The FMCG major which has been trying to separate its hotel business believes that this will lead to value creation for shareholders through a sharper focus on the business anchored on a differentiated strategy aligned with industry-specific market dynamics.

ITC Chairman and MD Sanjiv Puri had last week said hospitality industry is poised for strong growth. "Given that India's share in global tourism is just 1%, there is substantial headroom for growth and it is estimated that tourism GDP in India can grow from $143 billion to $250 billion by 2030," said Puri.

ITC shares have fallen about 10% since the company on July 24 said it is hiving off its hotel business. Analysts have given a thumbs-up to the scheme as they believe it will improve the parent company's capital allocation.

Currently, ITC has over 120 properties in 70 locations comprising nearly 11,600 rooms. Even as the hotel business accounted for 20% of ITC's capex in FY23, it contributed only 2% of its EBIT. In FY23, revenue from the hotel division doubled to ₹2,689 crore and in Q1FY24, this segment recorded revenues of ₹600 crore. As per ITC's investor's presentation, ITC Hotels will be given a license to use the 'ITC ' name as part of its corporate name and some of its properties and brand names, subject to customary conditions involving a fee.

ITC net profit surges 17.58% to ₹4,903 crore in Q1FY24

Analysts saw 11-13% rise in PAT

Analysts at large were expecting cigarette to hotel conglomerate to report 11-13% rise in Q1FY24 PAT. Revenue for the quarter came in at ₹16,995.4 crore, down 7.23% year-on-year. EBIDTA margin in Q1FY24 came at 39.5%. up 680 basis points YoY. FMCG, other segments saw their revenue rising by 16% YoY

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

BEATING street estimates, ITC on Monday reported a 17.58% year-on-year (YoY) rise in standalone net profit at ₹4,903 crore for the June quarter as against ₹4,169 crore in the same quarter last year.

Analysts at large were expecting the cigarette to hotel conglomerate to report 11-13% increase in its Q1FY24 PAT.

ITC's revenue for the quarter came in at ₹16,995.40 crore, down 7.23% Year-on-Year. The EBIDTA margin in Q1FY24 came at 39.5%. up 680 basis points YoY.

The cigarettes segment reported 11% YoY rise in sales and 11% rise in PBIT on the back of sustained volume claw back from illicit trade and relative stability in taxes, the company said. This segment's revenue came to Rs 7,465 crore during the quarter.

The fast-moving consumer goods products (FMCG), other segments saw their revenue rising by 16% YoY to ₹5,166 crore.

The segment Ebitda (Earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation, and amortization) margin expanded 325 basis points to 11%, with staples, biscuits, noodles, beverages, dairy, agarbatti and premium soaps driving the growth. The hotels business of ITC reported its best ever quarter in Q1FY24. The segment revenue was up 8% and the segment PBIT was up 17% YoY. This segment's Ebitda margin was up 140 bps YoY to nearly 34%.

Sebi seeks 15 more days to conclude Adani probe

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

THE Sebi on Monday moved the Supreme Court seeking 15 more days to conclude its probe into allegations of stock manipulation by the Adani group, which it was supposed to conclude by August 14 as per the SC's May 17 ruling. Submitting a status report, the market watchdog said it has completed investigating 17 out of the 24 transactions it had taken up for probe.

Of the seven transactions still being investigated, Sebi said it has completed probe in one case based on available information and the interim report is ready, but some details sought from agencies in foreign jurisdictions are yet to arrive.

Referring to the remaining six matters, the market regulator said findings on four cases have been crystallised and the reports are in the process of being approved by the competent authority. As for the last two cases, investigation is at an advanced stage for one while the interim report is under preparation for the other.

The SC had on March 2, 2023 directed Sebi to complete its probe within two months. It also asked the regulator to investigate whether the conglomerate violated disclosure norms. In the last hearing on May 17, the SC extended the deadline to Aug 14.

Top court issues contempt notice to SpiceJet CMD

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Monday summoned Ajay Singh, Chairman and managing director of SpiceJet, for a personal appearance. The top court issued a contempt notice against Singh for failure to comply with the agreed terms with Credit Suisse.

The court has asked Singh to respond to the contempt notice in four weeks. Last week, the Delhi High Court had asked Singh to personally present in the court on August 24 in his dispute against Kalanithi Maran of KAL Airways. Credit Suisse has alleged Singh and Spicejet have not been paying as per the schedule and as of now there is an outstanding dues of $6.5 million. A SpiceJet spokesperson said the debt, it should be noted, is an old one and predates the current promoter taking over the company.

"The payment of the settlement amount was subject to RBI approval. SpiceJet could not start the payment as per applicable schedule under the consent terms for a few months till RBI approval came. Till date, SpiceJet has paid a total of $7.1 million to Credit Suisse. The shortfall of $4.4 million pertains to the period when RBI approval was still awaited."

Sebi bars Goenka, Chandra from holding key posts

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

THE Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi) on Monday modified its order against Subhash Chandra and Punit Goenka, and barred them from holding key managerial positions in at least four Zee group companies as well as in the merged entity of ZEEL and Sony Pictures Networks India till further directions.

Goenka has been restrained from becoming the Managing Director at the merged entity of Zee Entertainment Enterprises Ltd (ZEEL) and Sony Pictures Networks India, now known as Culver Max Entertainment. The deal is yet to be complete.

Passing the confirmatory order in connection with case of alleged siphoning off funds of ZEEL, Sebi Chairperson Madhabi Puri Buch said the investigation by the watchdog in the case "shall be completed in a time-bound manner and in any event, within a period of eight months from the date of this order". In the interim order passed in June this year, Chandra and Goenka were barred from becoming a director or key managerial personnel (KMP) in any listed company but that direction has been modified now.

The interim order was challenged by the two individuals before the Securities Appellate Tribunal (SAT), which had rejected their pleas.

In the 91-page order on Monday, Buch said the interim order is being modified after considering the material on record, oral and written submissions of the entities. Till further directions, Chandra and Goenka have been barred from holding the post of director or KMP in ZEEL, Zee Media Corporation Ltd. Zee Studios Ltd (a wholly-owned subsidiary of ZEEL), Zee Akaash News Pvt Ltd. (a wholly-owned subsidiary of Zee Media Corporation Ltd).

Besides, they have been restrained from holding positions in any resultant company that is formed pursuant to a merger or amalgamation of the companies with any other company, wholly or in part.

Sebi bars Goenka from becoming Culver Max MD

Punit Goenka has been restrained by market regulator Sebi from becoming the Managing Director at the merged entity of Zee Entertainment Enterprises Ltd (ZEEL) and Sony Pictures Networks India, now known as Culver Max Entertainment. The deal is yet to be complete

Phone shipment crosses 2 bn units during 2014-22

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INDIA'S mobile phone shipment crossed the 2 billion cumulative units mark under the Make-in-India initiative during 2014-2022, registering a 23% CAGR, according to the latest research from Counterpoint.

The reason for the massive growth is the huge internal demand, increasing digital literacy and government push, that made India the second-biggest mobile phone-producing country.

"In 2022, more than 98% of shipments in the overall Indian market were 'Made in India', compared to just 19% when the current government took over in 2014. We have also seen increasing local value addition and supply chain development in the country. Local value addition in India currently stands at an average of more than 15%, compared to the low single digits eight years ago," said Tarun Pathak, Research Director.

The government has been pushing hard to become an electronic manufacturing hub in the past few years. The Indian government has introduced schemes and initiatives such as the Phased Manufacturing Program (PMP), Make in India, Production Linked Incentive (PLI) and Atma-Nirbhar Bharat (Self-Reliant India) to increase local manufacturing and value addition.

Jio completes minimum 5G roll-out obligations in all licensed service areas

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

TELECOM service provider Reliance Jio on Monday completed the minimum 5G rollout obligation by launching 5G network using 26 GHz mmWave spectrum in the country.

Earlier Bharti Airtel already announced launching 5G services on 26 GHz spectrum across all 22 telecom circles in accordance to the norms set by the Department of Telecommunications (DoT) for complying with the Minimum Roll-out obligation criteria. The country's third-largest telecom service provider Vodafone Idea is yet to launch commercial 5G services in the country. The loss-making telco has bought 850MHz of mid-band 5G spectrum (3300 MHz) in its 17 priority circles and 5,350MHz mmWave 5G (26 GHz) spectrum in 16 circles.

It informed the government that it had launched 5G service in Delhi and Pune on a trial basis. Meanwhile, country's largest telco Reliance Jio said with this launch, it has completed its minimum roll-out obligations in each of the 22 Licensed Service Areas (LSA), across each of the spectrum bands, ahead of time under the terms.

"We have of course completed minimum roll-out obligations for 5G spectrum allocated to us. Since receiving the 5G spectrum in August last year, our team has been working round the clock to ensure we keep up pace of 5G roll-out that we had promised to enable pan-India 5G coverage by the end of this year…Benefits of 5G mmWave include high bandwidth and low latency. This can give enterprises looking to deploy emerging and innovative applications faster speeds and less delay than previous wireless networking technologies," said Akash Ambani, Chairman, Jio Infocomm. The government mandates telcos to commercially launch services in each of the three major metros —Delhi, Kolkata, and Mumbai—within a year post-auctions.

Infy veteran Richard Lobo joins edtech firm Byju's

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

FORMER head of HR at IT major Infosys Richard Lobo has been roped in by edtech firm Byju's in a significant development.

He will be an exclusive advisor to help transform the firm's Human Resources function. After a 23-year career at Infosys, Lobo joins Byju's. The HR leader held various leadership roles in Infosys and most recently served its EVP and head of Human Resources.

In his new role, Lobo will actively guide Byju's management on organisational change and transformation, the edtech company said. Byju Raveendran, founder and CEO, and Divya Gokulnath, Co-founder, Byju's, said Lobo becomes an integral part of the Byju's family. "His extensive experience and leadership in HR will be instrumental in further enriching our work culture and ensuring that the welfare of our team members remains at the core of every decision we take," they said.

Lobo said, "I look forward to working with the leadership to scale global organisational design, innovate people practices, and help strengthen the foundation of the enterprise to support its next phase of growth as a global market leader."

Last month, Byju's announced that former SBI Chairman Rajnish Kumar and former CFO of Infosys TV Mohandas Pai will join the company's newly constituted Advisory Council.

For me, Independence Day is celebrated for a long time in this country. We have seen a better part of 75 years, seen from my parents, then as a child and now as an adult, and as a parent myself. And I think, this is tied along with a similar base and hopefully, we can give a great ecosystem and a great environment for our kids in the future. To me, celebrating independence day is about responsibility and nothing else, just giving chocolates doesn't makes sense. We are responsible citizens and I believe that handing over a safe and secure environment to our children is the best possible celebration of independence — R Ashwin, India cricketer, on Independence Day

Fantastic four: Vidit & Co on the move

With Gujrathi's entering quarterfinals, strong presence of Indian contingent has been the highlight of Chess WC

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Chennai

VIDIT Gujrathi made it four Indian men in the last eight of the FIDE World Cup (Open section) on Monday. After two grinding draws over as many days in the Classical format against Ian Nepomniachtchi, the Indian prevailed in the second set of tie-breaks to advance to the quarterfinals where he will face local lad Nijat Abasov.

After holding the two-time World Championship contender to draws with a shorter time control, Gujrathi won with both white and black to keep Indian dreams flying high in what is already a memorable event for the country. On Sunday, the trio of Arjun Erigaisi, R Praggnanandhaa and D Gukesh — all still in their teens — had already booked their spots in the last eight which will begin on Tuesday. There's more news from an Indian perspective.

Magnus Carlsen is set to face Gukesh but the Norwegian is yet to decide about playing the Candidates next year. If Carlsen beats Gukesh but decides against competing in the 2024 edition of the Candidates, one of the three (Praggnanandhaa, Erigaisi or Gujrathi) will automatically advance to that event in Canada.

The match itself holds significant interest with the chess community waiting to see if the 17-year-old Gukesh is the real deal this early in his career. One Grandmaster who can't wait for the match to commence is Srinath Narayanan. While he calls Carlsen the 'favourite', he's not ruling out an upset. "Think Carlsen is a bit of a favourite," he told this daily. "Gukesh is capable but he's still very young.

It reminds me of a young Carlsen v. Viswanathan Anand match-up. "Gukesh has become very mature so he's also capable of handling many different positions but Carlsen is much quicker in terms of sensing things. He has better intuition right now. Gukesh, though, can calculate a lot, it's something Magnus himself mentioned earlier this year."

While in most games, you want to avoid playing the person and just focus on the field (the board in this position), in chess, it's encouraged to play the person as well as the board. "There's always an element of playing the person, especially in an over-the-board game. You have a very close view of body language, you sense everything... there's a lot of non verbal communication that happens between the players."

On the wider narrative of Indian teens who have arrived in the world of chess, Narayanan suggested it's to do with a lot of reasons including the wider support for chess, all of them competing against each other and how the Olympiad turbo-charged their development. "It (three of the eight being Indians under the age of 20) doesn't come as a surprise," he said. "These kids have become very strong, no doubts about it. The format also suits them, it's a bruising tournament so you need to have lots of stamina. They have that stamina, unlimited energy and motivation. Don't think there's any one thing (a possible reason behind their jump in terms of progression). One of the main things could be that they have competed against each other at a very early age. When one of your peers is achieving something, you know that you are at least as good as them. If Pragg beats Magnus or Hikaru (Nakamura), it gives self belief to the others as well." He also made the point that without the Olympiad at home, Pragg and Gukesh wouldn't even have made the side. "We wouldn't have fielded three teams so a lot of players wouldn't have experienced it. Gukesh and Pragg wouldn't even have played. That was definitely the breakthrough event for Gukesh. Maybe he already that self belief but scoring eight on eight on a stage like that... that strengthened it further."

He and the others will need that self belief to keep the fire burning against the likes of Carlsen.

Harika suffers defeat

In the women's quarterfinal, India's D Harika went down against Aleksandra Goryachkina in the third batch of tie-breaks. Harika had lost the first game of the first batch of tie-breaks with shorter time controls but fought back to take the tie to a second round of tie-breaks which finished 1 apiece. In the third stanza, Goryachkina won with black before holding her own with white to advance.

IT WILL BE A CLOSE MATCH VS ARJUN: PRAGGNANANDHAA

ASHOK VENUGOPAL @ Chennai

GM R Praggnanandhaa, who on Friday won both rapid games to eliminate second-seeded Hikaru Nakamura to enter quarterfinals, will meet Arjun Erigaisi at the FIDE World Cup in Baku on Tuesday. After the two classical games ended in draws, the 18-year old Indian, who celebrated his birthday on Thursday, stunned the American GM in the tie-break games on Friday. Confident of doing well against Arjun, Praggnanandhaa, in a chat with this daily, insists that he is expecting an interesting dual against Arjun. Excerpts.

On reaching the quarterfinals
I am happy to have reached quarterfinals this year. This is my second world cup and in my first world cup in 2021 at Sochi I lost in the fourth round just before quarters.

On beating Nakamura and crossing 2700 rating
It was nice and definitely one of the best days for sure, I was very happy with my overall game quality in the match. It feels good, I have been close to 2700 for quite some time but somewhere I was missing.. so I was happy to break it finally in my recent event in Hungary.

On confidence from the Budapest event
I had played some really good games in Hungary. The tournament win in Hungary definitely gave me a huge confidence. This is my first time to Baku, organization is just amazing and I am having good time.

On his preparations for WC
Obviously, good preparation is important at any level. Big thanks to (Viswanathan) Anand sir and West Bridge Anand chess academy, It has helped my game tremendously.

On the match against Arjun
It will be very interesting and close match for sure, we know each other for many years, also we were in the same team for Alphine Warriors in Global league recently and we good friends off the board.

Bajrang Punia and Vinesh Phogat (right)

Worlds trials: Eyes on Bajrang, Vinesh

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

AFTER much delay, the ad-hoc committee running wrestling in the country has finally announced the dates of the selection trials for the upcoming World Championships. The trials to pick 10 wrestlers each in three styles (men's freestyle and Greco-Roman, women's wrestling) will be held on August 25 and 26 in Patiala. However, the bigger question that remains unanswered is the participation of Bajrang Punia and Vinesh Phogat in the trials. Trials in women's wrestling and Greco-Roman style will be held on Day 1 while freestyle trials will be organised the next day.

The duo was given direct entry into the national team for the Asian Games despite the fact that trials were held in their respective weight categories which were won by Vishal Kaliraman (65kg) and Antim Panghal (53kg). The exemption given to them didn't go down well with most of the wrestlers with Antim and another grappler Sujeet Kalkal even moving the court.

And if Bajrang and Vinesh once again decide not to take part in the trials, it may open a pandora's box. "If they (Bajrang and Vinesh) don't compete in the Worlds trials then they will not have the right to represent the country in the Asian Games as well," former national coach Mahabir Prasad told this daily.

The Worlds is scheduled in Belgrade, Serbia from September 16 to 24 while wrestling competitions are slated to be held from October 4 to 7 in the quadrennial event. Importantly, the Worlds is also the 2024 Paris Olympics qualifier. "I understand they are top wrestlers of the country but they haven't competed since the 2022 Worlds in September. Trials are not only about selecting the best wrestler in each weight category, they also help assess the current fitness of an athlete. Even Ravi Dahiya, the Tokyo Olympics silver medallist, lost the Asiad trials," he added.

The coach affirmed the duo should test their fitness in the trials even if they wish not to participate in the Worlds. "This is their last chance to test their fitness. If they win, they compete in the Asian Games and give way to second-best wrestlers in their respective weight categories for the Worlds."

Parveen Dahiya, chief coach at the iconic Chhatrasal Stadium where Vishal trains, was happy that his ward is getting a trial but was also upset over the treatment meted out to Vishal earlier. "Competition is tough in the 65kg weight category. Out of 3-4 top wrestlers, anyone can win. So there is no surety whether Vishal will win the trials as he did during the Asiad trials. If he loses, he will eventually get nothing despite winning the previous trials which is inexplicable," said Parveen.

Khap panchayat in support of Vishal, Antim

Meanwhile, a khap panchayat was held in Sisai village of Hisar district (Haryana) on Monday against the direct inclusion of Bajrang and Vinesh in Asiad team. Vishal hails from the village. "Sarpanchs from 25 villages attended the panchayat. Vishal and Antim were made standby despite winning the trials," Subhash, Vishal's father, said. He added they will hold another panchayat next week.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

WEEKS after Tamil Nadu Chief Minister M K Stalin invited athletes from Manipur — a state that is suffering from violence — to train in his state, as many as 15 athletes and two coaches from the Manipur fencing team have arrived in Chennai to practice for their upcoming events.

Tamil Nadu Chief Minister M K Stalin said in a statement in July stating that the situation in Manipur was not conducive for the sportspersons to train for events like Khelo India and Asian Games adding that he invite them to come to Tamil Nadu should they want to practice. State sports minister Udhayanidhi had assured that "high-quality" facilities would be provided on behalf of the Sports Department Authority of India with Tamil Nadu set to host the 2024 edition of the Khelo India games.

Following this, a 17-member contingent from the Manipur fencing team arrived in Chennai on Sunday evening. The contingent involves two groups of athletes. A 10-member squad (seven boys and three girls) will be preparing for the Khelo India Youth Games that it set to be held in Tamil Nadu next year. Rest of the five (three boys and two girls) athletes will be preparing for the National Games that is scheduled to happen in Goa later this year. The athletes will be training at the Jawaharlal Nehru Indoor Stadium from Tuesday.

Keen to improve endurance & speed: Nishant ahead of Asiad test

ANMOL GURUNG @ Chennai

HE'S young, he's hungry and more importantly, he packs a hefty punch. Rising star Nishant Dev's boxing aptitude is indisputable but he's yet to be tested thoroughly. His confidence has risen after a medal in the World Championships earlier this year, but he's mindful that he's far from a finished product. With Hangzhou Asian Games in mind, Nishant is intent on upping his endurance and speed.

"I'm working on my shortcomings that were evident during the Worlds. I need to work more on my endurance and my speed. In the final round, we tend to get tired and throw slow punches. I'm eager to improve on that aspect of my game right now. I want to maintain high intensity levels until the last minute of a bout," Nishant says. He's been doing heavy running and shadow boxing in recent sessions to achieve the same.

It's evident that the youngster from Haryana is open to ideas and hungry to add more to his skills inside the ring. At the aforementioned Worlds, he had put up a formidable show to return with a bronze medal. What's more compelling is the fact that just last year, he was staring at an uncertain future after undergoing a surgery (shoulder injury). That injury had come after a promising show during the 2021 World Championships, where he had stunned some big names before losing his quarterfinal bout.

"Post surgery (2022), I was training in IIS. My friends, family and coaches supported me a lot. They pushed me saying 'Injuries are just part of the game'. Given the support around me, I also pushed myself a great deal. My goals are quite massive so setbacks like that does not deter me," the light middleweight pugilist (71kg) recounts.

Nishant regained his health just in time for the national championships (December 31, 2022-January 6, 2023) before making history in the world meet. "I was just focussed on recovering and winning the nationals in December. I did the same. The Worlds medal was my first. It was a big positive for me," the 22-year-old, who is supported by JSW Sports, says. Having turned things around, he's now knocking on the door of one of his primary goals — qualifying for the Paris Olympics. The Asiad will be the first quota event for the boxers. "I want to give my 100 per cent during the Asian Games and win a quota. The next chance will be quite late. I want to work hard and get it done early as possible so that I can train with a free mind for the Olympics," he says.

One person who has been a constant support in life so far is his father Pawan Dev, who used to take him for coaching classes during his salad days at Karan Stadium in Karnal district. After getting inspired by his uncle, who used to box in Germany, he took up the gloves for the first time in 2008. "My father used to take me to training early in the morning until my training used to get over. He's been a massive influence in my life," Nishant, who was later inspired by Manoj Kumar's gold medal during the Commonwealth Games in 2010, says.

Nishant also looks up to his idols — Floyd Mayweather Jr and Muhammad Ali (two giants who are synonymous to the sport) — for inspiration. "I have read about them as well and learned about the struggles they have endured. Those things motivate me," Nishant, who also has a liking towards gaming and music, says.

The Asiad-bound boxers were due to return to training on Monday after a week-long break. Boxers from Russia and the Philippines were recently in India as part of a multinational camp. "We had quality training. We had three sparring sessions and it was really productive," Nishant says.

Asiad promises to be an exciting watch with hunger-filled boxers like Nishant in the picture.

India football body brings controversial PIO issue to the forefront

VISHNU PRASAD @ Bengaluru

IT is a discussion that springs up in Indian football every now and then. But on Monday, the All India Football Federation (AIFF) brought the debate on footballers of Indian origin wearing national colours to the very forefront, with the forming of a task force to study the status of Persons of Indian Origin (PIO) footballers. "The Task Force's primary objective will be to collect data on footballers who are either Overseas Citizens of India (OCI) or Persons of Indian Origin (PIO)," said AIFF president Kalyan Chaubey, also a Member of Parliament of the ruling party.

"It is a matter of great pride for us that many such footballers are playing in different countries with distinction and have made a name for themselves in the tough world of professional football." While Chaubey maintains that this is merely a data gathering exercise and that he is aware of the law of the land prohibiting non-citizens from representing the country, his words make it clear that this is a step towards a change in status quo.

"However, if we want to open up a dialogue and look into various ways of allowing such players to represent the Indian Football Teams, then we need concrete and comprehensive data to back up our arguments, which is why we have constituted this Task Force," he said. It is no surprise that this debate has happened in football — it is indeed normal for national teams to field players born in another country. Morocco famously reached the semifinals of the 2022 World Cup with a squad-full of French and Dutch players. One has to keep in mind that most Western countries have dual citizenship. Every now and then, India often comes up against teams full of players bred elsewhere, more recently against Pakistan in the SAFF Cup.

However, any attempt to force the issue could lead to a legal mess that will affect the whole of Indian sports. The issue of non-citizens representing India is a Pandora's box that had been firmly forced shut by the Supreme Court more than a decade ago. A 2010 judgment (Karm Kumar vs Union Of India & Ors) made it clear that, unless the government changed policy, non-citizens of Indian origin were not eligible to represent the country.

That case alone is an example of why allowing non-citizen footballers to represent the country may lead to a big legal mess. It began when Karm, a British squash player of Indian origin, moved the court against the decision to exclude non-Indian passport holders from the national squad. Karm was born in India and had migrated to the UK when he was two — there was indeed a case to be made that he had a strong connection with the country.

However, also party to the subsequent appeal in the Supreme Court was an American named Robert Blanchette, who claimed that he had the right to represent India in Equestrian by virtue of having grandparents who used to be Indian citizens. Blanchette — whose petition was referred to as 'sketchy' by the Supreme Court — appears to have little to do with India at first sight.

His profile on the Fédération Equestre Internationale website lists him as competing under Ireland colours (despite being an American citizen). At the time of the 2010 ruling, Blanchette was widely reported as attempting to participate in the London Olympics as part of the Indian contingent. It appears clear here that the event mattered, not the flag.

If a precedent is set in football, there is every chance, in a less-followed sport, of someone coming up with an obscure link to India to represent the country at a high-profile international event, much like Blanchette attempted to do.

Whatever decision the government takes in this regard, they would do well to remember that they might be setting off a chain reaction of irreversible consequences. Not just in sports but across the cross-section, including education. When Make in India is in focus, PIO taskforce is created by AIFF.

Real Madrid sign goalie Kepa on season-long loan

AGENCIES @ Madrid

CHELSEA goalkeeper Kepa Arrizabalaga has joined Real Madrid on a season-long loan to replace the injured Thibaut Courtois, the two clubs announced on Monday.

"Real Madrid and Chelsea FC have agreed on the loan of player Kepa Arrizabalaga until June 30, 2024," the Spanish club said in a statement.

Belgian star Courtois, 31, will miss most of the season after rupturing the anterior cruciate ligament in his left knee.

Kepa came close to signing for Real in 2018 but instead joined Chelsea for £71 million ($90 million) and lifted the Europa League trophy in his first season.

This Independence Day, the co-founder of a women-only social media app, speaks about preserving freedom of expression for women, preventing online hate and maintaining the app's identity to ensure it doesn't share the fate that befell Twitter

A SAFE SPACE

TUNIR BISWAS

SCROLLING through social media these days, one cannot miss instances of hate – from homophobia to casteism, threats to slander, it comes in all forms. But women face an overwhelming share of that hate. In an attempt to curb this problem and to provide a safe space for women on the internet, Aparna Acharekar co-founded the women-only social app coto (short for come together).

"The idea came from women facing harassment. We noticed that the more a woman expressed her thoughts online, the more hate she got. This was especially true for women influencers and celebrities. Not just here in India. We have data that shows this pattern across the world. We wanted to create a space where women would be able to ask questions and express themselves without inhibitions," shares Acharekar, who has over two decades experience in content creation.

The internet provides people with the luxury of anonymity. But some take advantage of this luxury to masquerade themselves in many ways. So, how does coto ensure no one abuses the app? "We have various ways of verifying users. We use reliable and effective social recognition systems to ensure someone isn't falsifying their identity. We also used two-factor authentication and if someone wishes to, they can opt to enter their Aadhaar details (other government ID data for people in other countries). We have taken ample steps to ensure that only women and transwomen get access to our app," she explains.

coto has been live since January 2023 and surprisingly the app hasn't recorded any instance of hate or abuse, largely due to their content moderation practices. "First, there is an AI-level moderation, which picks derogatory works or inappropriate words. Inappropriate words or context, in our case, are very different than what you find on other social media. On a women-only app, when somebody uses the word breast or vagina, those words are not flagged off as inappropriate. Secondly, communities moderate their content and their members. So community members can report to, and escalate to admins of every community, pretty much like on a WhatsApp group. So if there is anything that is not contextual to the community or maybe harmful to the community, the creators themselves moderate it. The platform does not, unless their complaint has escalated," she says.

coto comes with an identity – to create a space for women online. So, what are their plans to ensure the identity remains intact and doesn't eventually lose itself, something that has plagued other social media apps over the years? "We believe social media should be decentralised. Women who come to coto and set up their communities, are given coto tokens/gains. It essentially means that a large part of the platform will be owned by the community creators and members."

Regarding plans of expanding, Acharekar elaborates, "Presently our largest user base is in India and Egypt. But the application is available globally. We are soon planning on launching in Indonesia."

This play from a city-based theatre troupe explores the man behind the legend of Bhagat Singh

Quest for Freedom

DESE GOWDA

MORE than 90 years after his hanging by the British, socialist revolutionary Bhagat Singh still remains large in public memory. But apart from his involvement in various plots against the British establishment, and later his execution, many know little about Singh. On the occasion of India's 77th Independence day, city-based theatre troupe Theatrenama is staging a play Gagan Damama Bajyo, on Singh's life and his journey from a common man into a legend.

"Everyone has heard of Bhagat Singh in India, but what most people associate with him is that of a revolutionary, martyr but nothing beyond. We wanted to explore the man behind the legend, and showcase his human side. What his life was like before he got into the freedom struggle. Furthermore, Bhagat Singh was just 23 when he was executed by the British. These days, when our youngsters are struggling with rampant mental health issues, we thought it would be an apt story to inspire them," says Aashish Rana, founder of Theatrenama and director of the play.

A still from the play

The play, written by veteran actor-playwright Piyush Mishra, goes into the many aspects of Singh's life, beyond his patriotism and struggle of azaadi. "It explores some lesser-known aspects of Singh's life. For instance, not many people know that he was engaged before he gave up everything in his quest for azaadi. I think the people who come to watch the play will certainly be surprised on more than one occasion," says Rana, adding that the musical play also features around 11 songs.

Deeply influenced by ideas from Bolshevism and anarchism, Bhagat Singh was a leading figure within the militant resistance to British rule in the 1920s. And unlike most popular tellings, where his political beliefs are largely overlooked, Gagan Damama Bajyo explores Singh's socio-political convictions. "Bhagat Singh was someone who envisaged a world where there was no difference between the rich and the poor. His idea of independence wasn't just freedom from the British. He wanted a world where everyone was equal. He made it clear that even if we got independence from Britain, nothing would change for millions of Indians. I think largely that has remained true to this day," says Rana, adding "I hope the audiences will leave the auditorium with a different mindset that they originally came in with."

(Gagan Damama Bajyo is being staged at Ranga Shankara on Aug 15, 7.30pm. Tickets ₹350. Details on bookmyshow.com)

FIT BIT

ARDHA CHANDRASANA NAMASKAR VARIATION

In Sanskrit, ardha means half, chandra means moon, namaskar means greeting with hands. This is an intermediate standing one-legged, forward bend asana, a challenging extension of Ardha Chandrasana, combining balance with a twist.

STEPS

- First, start in Utthita Trikonasana (Extended Triangle Pose) with the left foot in front and your left hand facing the floor.
- Now, you can engage your Mula Bandha, Uddiyana Bandha, and Ujjayi Breathing.
- Then, exhale as you slide your left palm out to the front while bending your left knee, experimenting with the distance to find your balance.
- Inhale and lift your right foot off the floor until your right leg is parallel to the floor, keeping it straight and away from your head. Straighten your left leg.
- Now, exhale and rotate your chest to the side, so that your shoulders stack one on top of the other.
- Again exhale, lift your left arm up off the floor and bring your hands towards your chest into a prayer position (Anjali Mudra) .
- Now, you can keep your balance and challenge yourself by looking upwards.
- Hold the pose for at least 30-90 seconds, in order to receive the full benefits of the stretch.
- Finally, by exhaling, lower your right foot to the floor, coming back into Utthita Trikonasana.
- You can repeat the pose on the other side, using the above steps and then relax.

BENEFITS

- This pose helps in creating a twist within the abdomen.
- It tones the digestive and reproductive organs.
- This helps in stimulating the metabolism and in detoxifying the body.
- This asana strengthens the spine, ankles, the calf, thigh and hip muscles.
- It also helps to strengthen the rectus abdominis or the ABS muscles.
- This asana stretches the hamstrings, groin, leg muscles and improves side body flexibility.
- It helps to reduce anxiety and stress, giving a relaxed feeling.
- It improves the concentration level and balances the mind and body.

LIMITATIONS

People who have low blood pressure, insomnia and headaches should avoid this.

Those with neck injuries should avoid looking upwards and instead look downwards.

Don't push through your limits. This will take time to perfect.

77 SHADES OF FREEDOM

MEGHANA GAONKAR, ACTOR

To me, freedom means living on one's own terms without undue pressure from societal norms. As a modern millennial, I value respecting traditional ways of life, but only when they are meaningful. For me, freedom encompasses not only personal and individual expression but also financial independence. It means having the liberty to embrace my artistic side, fulfilling its genuine nature. This allows me to reach my full potential as a creative individual and explore my true identity.

TEAM CE

Netaji Subash Chandra Bose famously proclaimed, "Freedom is not given... it is taken." After taking this freedom from the British in 1947, India in 2023, is no more just a nation stepping out of the clutches of colonialism. Now, we have undoubtedly moved on to become a global leader in various aspects, and yet there is time and space for a lot of introspection. 76 years ago freedom meant breaking out the shackles of the British, but over the years, the term has taken different forms and meanings depending on when it is asked and whom it is asked.

To mark the occasion of India's 77th Independence day, we reached out to a few cinema personalities to get their insights into this seemingly simple but deeply profound question...

"What does freedom mean to you?"

RAJ B SHETTY, FILMMAKER

I've lost faith in the notion that a human being can achieve absolute freedom. Our personalities are shaped by judgments and preferences influenced by our upbringing and culture. There are numerous factors that contribute to one's perception of independence, yet others may exploit our vulnerabilities and manipulate us based on their knowledge of our weaknesses. In such instances, it's challenging to claim true freedom. According to my perspective, the true measure of freedom lies in the purest form of happiness. When a person experiences genuine freedom, they discover happiness. Whether it's expressed as love, freedom, or happiness, these concepts can vary depending on individual viewpoints. Complete freedom equates to uninterrupted flow and profound happiness. In the presence of freedom, happiness flourishes, thereby benefiting not only the individual but also society and, in turn, the nation. An individual who possesses both happiness and freedom holds the potential to positively impact and heal a multitude of people and their communities. This transformation elevates your significance on a global and national scale.

GEETHA BHARATHI BHAT, ACTOR/ SINGER

We've been taught a single perspective on freedom since childhood, but could there be more to it? I believe 'Freedom' encompasses diverse meanings and varies in each individual's life. For me, Freedom is synonymous with individuality. It's about embracing one's uniqueness, fostering self-love, and practising kindness. In a perpetually bustling world, if you can halt, immerse yourself in the present moment, inhale deeply, and savour it as though tomorrow is uncertain, wouldn't that be true freedom? What is your interpretation of freedom?

SARATHKUMAR

Freedom is a state where both rich and poor are treated the same way without any partiality. According to me, real freedom is attained by a nation when every citizen forgets the differences based on caste, language, region, ethnicity and religion. When equality becomes the core principle of everyone, a society becomes truly liberated.

SANGEETHA SRINGERI

I believe freedom is expressing oneself openly, without filters. It's about allowing people to see and embrace us for our true selves, rather than pretending to be someone we're not. Freedom is shattering the self-created confines that hinder us from being accepted by others, as living within such constraints slowly extinguishes us each day.

Chakravarthy Chandrachud makes a directorial comeback with Milind Gautham as lead

CE FEATURES

Director and former Bigg Boss Season Kannada 8 contestant Chakravarthy Chandrachud, known for his past works like Janma in Kannada and Thambi Oorukku Pudusu in Tamil, is returning to directing after a hiatus of seven years. Chandrachud is currently engaged as a dialogue writer for Nagashekar's Sanju Weds Geetha II and is also working on a couple of scripts as a writer. Amidst this, he is gearing up for his next directorial venture.

Chandrachud's upcoming film will feature Milind Gautham in the lead role, who is making his debut with Unlock Raghava. While his first film is in, post-production, Milind has simultaneously spent the past three months preparing for his role in the Chandrachud directorial.

An official announcement about the project was made on the occasion of the director's birthday. He has revealed the tagline first (Come back Sindhura Veera Laxmana Nayaka) before the title and it has scannable code for viewers. The director plans to unveil the title and have a grand launch on September 2, coinciding with Sudeep's birthday.

When asked about the tagline's significance relating to the freedom fighter, and Chandrachud mentioned that the film will blend historical context with contemporary elements. "I will provide additional insights into this aspect during the launch event," he says. The producer of Unlock Raghava, Manjunath D, will produce his venture, under the banner of Mayura Motion Pictures. The film will feature Manikanth Kadri as the music director, Madhu Tumbanakere as the editor, and Yogeswaran as the cinematographer.

Jailer's response is heartwarming and humbling

A SHARADHAA

Everyone walked into Nelson's Jailer expecting to be blown away by the aura of Superstar Rajinikanth, and understandably, they did too. But what hit the audience out of nowhere was the charismatic cameo of Kannada superstar Shivarajkumar, which has become the talk of the town cutting across linguistic backgrounds. If the Kannada audience were jubilant about the elevation to their Karunada Chakravarthy, other audiences, who were unaware of his superstardom, were inquisitive about the star of 125-odd films.

In an exclusive interview with CE, Shivarajkumar fondly called Shivanna by his legion of fans, shared his feelings about the overwhelming feedback for Jailer, and how he is grateful for the responses to his performance.

How does it feel to receive love and appreciation from a new audience for your role in Jailer?
Since the movie's release, I've experienced a range of emotions. I was anxious about how my performance would be perceived. The audience's perspective remains a mysterious and unpredictable element. The way people have perceived me since the release of Jailer has been different... it is heartwarming and humbling. I'm thankful for the affection shown for my appearance in Jailer, and I give a significant portion of the credit to director Nelson and, most importantly, the legendary Rajinikanth. His humility is evident in his willingness to share the screen with fellow actors, despite his superstar status.

Have you come across viral video edits of your work? How do you feel about them?
While I'm not very active on social media, I've been informed about my scenes becoming viral, and people around me have shown me these edited video clips of my work. It's truly heartwarming to know that these videos are becoming a trend. I attribute this recognition to the blessings of my family, including Appaji, amma, my brother Puneeth Rajkumar, my wife, daughters, friends, and countless individuals across states and the world that showed such immense love for my performance.

How was it working in Jailer with stars from across industries?
Working with Rajinikanth has truly been a unique experience for me. I have had the chance to meet him in more casual settings, and there exists a special bond that traces back to my younger days. When it comes to Ramya Krishnan, we have previously collaborated on a Kannada film. She exudes brilliance and versatility as an actor, boasting remarkable talent. I haven't had the opportunity to share screen space with Mohanlal, and even in Jailer, we didn't have scenes together. But I am absolutely enthusiastic about the prospect of collaborating with him in the future.

You've worked with superstars from other industries before. Is industry solidarity important to you?
Yes, industry solidarity holds great importance for me. As exemplified in Vajrakaya, where I collaborated with Ravi Teja, Sivakartikeyan, and Dhanush, who graciously lent his voice to a song, I strongly believe in fostering such connections. With Jailer, and Dhanush's upcoming film, Captain Miller, I am just continuing this endeavour.

In a way, do you see Jailer and Captain Miller as the beginning of your presence in non-Kannada films?
This marks an ongoing journey. Now, I actually have four offers from Tamil cinema, including two as the lead. I'm in discussions for a film with Malayalam actor Prithviraj Sukumaran, which should be finalised soon. But yeah, my current commitments in Kannada cinema require my full focus. I am in the process of exploring opportunities, and the future will reveal how things unfold.

Do you have a favourite scene in Jailer?
Certainly. One of my cherished scenes is when Rajinikanth is at the house, engaging with the family and sharing tender moments with his grandchild. This scene exemplifies Rajinikanth's unique ability to transcend his superstar persona and portray a genuine, relatable human on screen.

Do you believe your role in Jailer might encourage other industry stars to work in Kannada?
Absolutely, I am confident that my involvement has paved the way for other industry stars to consider working in Kannada cinema, be it in brief appearances or significant roles.

Which five films of yours would you recommend to your new audience to understand the real you?
I believe these five films would provide a good glimpse into my cinematic journey. Of course, my first film, Anand. Om, Jogi, Mufti, and Tagaru.

Q&A

Rashmika Mandanna joins D51

CE FEATURES

WE have earlier announced that Dhanush will be working next with Sekhar Kammula for his 51st film. The makers of the film have announced on Monday morning that Rashmika Mandanna will be joining the film. She will be paired opposite Dhanush for the first time. This is also the first time Rashmika will be working with director Sekhar Kammula. D51 is Dhanush's second straight Telugu film after the Venky Atluri directorial Sir.

D51 is produced by Narayan Das K Narang, Suneil Narang and Puskur Ram Mohan Rao under the banner Asian Cinemas LLP, in association with Sekhar's home banner Amigos Creations Pvt Ltd. Sonali Narang is the presenter of the film. Asian Cinemas has also produced Love Story, Sekhar Kammula's previous film, which starred Sai Pallavi and Naga Chaitanya.

Rashmika will be seen next in Pushpa: The Rule, the highly anticipated sequel of the 2021 Sukumar directorial Pushpa: The Rise.

Mystical allure of RUDRAKSHA

Discover the Healing Powers of the Magical Beads

The Rudraksha is a symbolic representation of the eleven Rudras, which are the different manifestations of Lord Shiva. It is an excellent choice for individuals who seek to conquer themselves and maintain good physical and mental health. Wearing a Rudraksha can enhance one's speech, as well as develop exceptional business, negotiation, and intellectual abilities, says Arvind P Bankaar of Rudrajyoothi, one of the trusted sources of Rudraksha beads

DURING the sacred month of Sawan, donning Rudraksha beads can facilitate swift advancement in professional objectives. These sanctified beads, intrinsically linked to Lord Shiva, exude affirmative energy while bestowing myriad advantages. Rudraksha beads foster equilibrium of emotions, physical health, focus, and concentration.

Their safeguarding essence shields wearers from adverse energies, rendering them particularly suitable for those in perpetual motion. In the midst of global economic downturns and capricious natural occurrences, Rudraksha affords stability and reinforcement. Its harmonizing attributes alleviate stress prompted by geopathic influences like radiation and pollution.

Adorning Rudraksha augments cognitive faculties and begets prosperity, prominence, leadership acumen, and mastery over the psyche and senses. These beads serve as guiding beacons, obliterating impediments and paving pathways to triumph and contentment.

Rudrajyoothi meticulously sources authentic Rudraksha beads directly from cultivators and meticulously curates them according to individual requisites. Leveraging their expertise, they recommend the most fitting combinations for each individual, ensuring optimal outcomes.

To ensure genuineness, Rudrajyoothi has established the Advanced Rudrakshaa Testing & Research Laboratory (ARTL). This establishment assists individuals in verifying the authenticity of their Rudraksha beads, curbing the proliferation of spurious products.

Rudraksha beads exhibit distinct facets or "mukhis," each symbolizing a manifestation of Lord Shiva. For instance, the 12 Mukhi Rudraksha enhances administrative and leadership prowess, while the 13 Mukhi Rudraksha elevates negotiation skills, ideal for professionals in sales and marketing. The 14 Mukhi Rudraksha augments business prospects, prosperity, and spiritual elevation.

To explore the potency of Rudraksha, visit the Rudraksh Exhibition Cum Sale at Rudraksh Hotel Ajantha, MG Road, near Trinity Metro Station, Bengaluru 2023. Operating hours: 11 am to 8 pm. Here, visitors can peruse authentic Rudraksha beads, encounter rare assortments like Indra Mala and Shiv Shakthi Mala on display, and receive complimentary personal consultations. The event also features free Mala Making, Spatika products, Biojewellery, Mercury products, and Premium Incense Sticks for display and sale.

For further information, kindly contact 9867402789 or visit www.rudrajyoothi.com.

Discover the protective shield, affirmative energy, and comprehensive well-being conferred by Rudraksha beads. Harness their potency and unlock your genuine potential for success and affluence.

ADVANCED RUDRAKSH TESTING LAB

ADVANCE RUDRAKSHAA TESTING LAB
www.artlmumbai.com
9001-2015 CERTIFIED ORGANIZATION

Advance Rudraksh Testing & Research Laboratory involves testing & authentication of rudraksh beats. ARTL was established with the purpose & mission to help people identify the Genuine Rudraksh beats like a diamond in the bunch of coal. It is a known fact that under the garb of religion, innocent people get cheated and duped by unscrupulous traders, supplying impure or substandard items as their are no government standards who approved this. ARTL, since inception, has laid down benchmark specifications for its testing ability and efforts. The Indian market has become flooded with imitation Rudraksh in the last few decades as the demand for rare beads has gone up. Many scores of people found to their dismay that the expensive Rudraksh they had bought was actually fake when it was examined by an expert. The ARTL Rudraksha testing reports are 100% real and authentic. Every report includes unique report number, approximate picture and measurement along with its identification characteristics.
